LYONS EXECUTION POSTPONED

DEATH DEFERRED BY
DECISION OF COURT
OF APPEALS FRIDAY

Judges Will Consider
New Plea Offered
By Attorney

COLUMBUS, O., July 17.—Jimmy Lyons, the youthful Havana, Ohio, bandit, who shot and killed Frank E. McGrath, special agent of the American Express Company, gloried in a new lease on life today.

Lyons was snatched from the shadow of the electric chair late yesterday when the Toledo court of appeals, composed of special judges, deferred the condemned man's execution from August 3 to Sept. 21.

The stay was granted so the judges will have ample time to dissect and deliberate on phases brought out by Melvin O. Rettig, Lyons' attorney, in an eloquent appeal for a new trial.

Rettig charged, in effect, that one of the jurors who condemned the youth to die, was prior to Lyons' conviction that Lyons would die for McGrath's murder. Rettig further contended the bullet that killed McGrath may have come from the gun of fellow-officers who accompanied McGrath to the Lyons home in Havana to arrest Lyons and his brother Leonard, on robbery charges.

Court was composed of Judges Wade Cushing, Cincinnati; Robert S. Shields, Canton and Lewis B. Houck, Mount Sterling. Previously the regular court of appeals declined to rule on the appeal, announcing the while the court was divided and that the "grave nature of the case" necessitated convening of a special tribunal.

Rettig's contention throughout Lyons' trial, was that McGrath was slain by the bullet from another man's revolver. The state asserted Lyons shot the officer in cold blood to escape arrest and imprisonment.

Although no one was permitted to see Lyons today, the fact that he had been granted a new lease on life was communicated to him and he was reported extremely happy.

The condemned man's partial success, however, has spurred the state in its determination to send him to the electric chair and the appeal will be contested tenaciously.

LIONS CLUBS MEET IN SAN FRANCISCO

SAN FRANCISCO, July 17.—Ten thousand delegates and visitors from many parts of the world will gather in San Francisco July 19 for the tenth annual international convention of Lion clubs.

The convention will continue five days, of which time a "general share" will be devoted to pageants and features for entertainment of visitors and San Franciscans alike.

A picturesque note will be lent by the uniform costumes to be worn by delegates, white shoes and stockings, white shirt and collar, royal purple ribbon with the name of the wearer's district stamped in gold letters and navy blue coats.

An outstanding feature of the convocation will be a California historical pageant, in which twenty clubs from various parts of the state will each undertake presentation of some historical incident of its district.

FLEMING NAMED TO AGRICULTURE BOARD

COLUMBUS, July 17.—Gov. Vic Donahey today announced the appointment of Edward A. Fleming of Lowell, Washington County, as a member of the state board of agriculture. Fleming's term will expire in 1930.

He succeeds W. H. Paw, Ravenna. The governor also announced the re-appointment of H. H. Ludwig, of Van Wert, Republican to membership on the board.

LORAIN JOURNAL SPONSORS FUND

LORAIN, O., July 17.—Declaring that the influence and freedom of the press is being challenged by the underworld in the assassination of Don Mellett, crusading Canton newspaper publisher, the Lorain Journal in a front page editorial today called on Ohio newspapers to raise a fund to aid in the capture of the assassins.

The Journal started off this fund with a contribution of $100.

CHARGE OF DYNAMITE WRECKS THRESHING MACHINE ENGINE

Origin Of Blast Is Mystery—Enemies Suspected

An engine furnishing power to a threshing machine owned by the Needmore Threshing Co., on the farm of L. A. and G. F. Smith, seven miles from Xenia off the Wilmington Pike, was wrecked by a heavy charge of dynamite, thought by the Smiths to have been intentionally placed in the fire box at 9 o'clock Friday night. The Smith family and company officials can advance no motive for the act. A check of the damage has not been completed.

V. L. Smith, a brother, reported he heard a Ford touring car pass along the highway in front of the farm house ten minutes before the explosion, saw it stop about 300 yards down the road, and later start away again shortly before the charge was set off. He was unable to see occupants of the car and at the time attached no importance to the incident.

The threshing machine was stored in the barn, but the engine had been placed outside. Several sticks of dynamite, probably with time fuses, had evidently been placed in the fire box, according to Foster Smith.

The Smith family is unable to ascribe a motive for the explosion but are convinced it was a deliberate attempt to demolish the engine.

The affair was not reported to the sheriff's office Saturday, but the Smiths announced they would probably enlist the aid of authorities in an investigation.

Break Round-World Record

Linton Wells, left, and Edward S. Evans, right, were greeted in New York on the completion of their record-breaking trip around the world by John Henry Mears, center, who held the record before them. The pair made the circuit in twenty-eight days and 14 hours, lowering Mears' record by more than a week.

CHILD LEFT AS SECURITY FOR GROCERY BILL; NOW IN COURTS

Custody Denied Three People By Court—Girl In Detention Home Pending Settlement

CLEVELAND, O., July 17.—Deported by her parents as security for a debt, little Winifred Hipwell, 4, was in the detention home here today, expecting the next shift in her fast moving life to provide her with a permanent home.

Custody of the child was denied the mother, foster mother and an aunt late Friday by Judge Harry L. Eastman of juvenile court when he decided none of them were qualified to provide a proper home for the girl.

Winifred's mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hipwell, separated last fall. The father went to Detroit, the mother to Chicago. They left their child with Mr. and Mrs. James Drake, as security for a ninety dollar grocery bill.

The Drakes had formed an attachment for the child and then the baby's aunt, Mrs. Anna Heffron, claimed her. Two months ago Winifred's mother took the child from Mrs. Heffron. The case got into court when Mrs. Drake sought to adopt the child. When her request was refused, she made a demand for $12 to pay for the girl's board and payment of the $90 grocery bill.

Judge Eastman ordered the debt paid, and advised Mrs. Hipwell that her daughter would be placed in a private home until the mother proves she is capable of properly rearing the girl.

POLICEMAN SHOTS MAN FATALLY AFTER HE SLAYS OWN SON

Fleeing Scene When Stopped By Bullet
From Sergeant

CLEVELAND, July 17.—After stabbing to death his son, William, 23, Jason Galloway, 43, was shot and killed by Police Sergeant Philip Neilson today.

The tragedy was enacted at the Galloway home, in the presence of Galloway's wife and two children, and Perry Nicholson, a boarder.

Young Galloway, according to the police version of the killings, was in the habit of doing his court-ship at home. His father disliked the practice and they often quarreled about it.

Early today the argument was renewed and the elder Galloway, police were told, seized a butcher knife and plunged it into his son's breast and throat.

William ran to the street, where Patrolman John Zicarelli and Henry Benzin found him. He was mortally wounded.

Jason fled through a rear lot and was scaling a fence when Zicarelli ordered him to halt. Galloway ignored the order and at this juncture Sergeant Neilson appeared. Neilson fired twice, killing Galloway instantly.

NEW AVIATION HEAD ASSUMES POSITION IN WAR DEPARTMENT

Young Davison Is Back
Back After Serious
Accident

WASHINGTON, July 17.—After nine years, Trubee Davison has come back.

When they picked him out of the wreckage of his plane with a dislocated spine one day in 1917, his friends said:

"If he gets out with his life, Davison is certainly through with aviation now."

But the blue-eyed, round-faced young man received the United Press today as the new boss who is to reform the much criticized army air service.

He is assistant secretary of war for aviation.

"I'm frightened," he admitted, explaining that on this first day in his new office, Assistant Secretary Davison had gone away and made him acting secretary of war.

"Yesterday, after I was sworn in, I rushed out to Bolling Field and flew—the first time in nine years. Of course, they sent up an expert pilot with me, but later he let me take the stick. Like old times, I skidded a bit around the curves, but I'll get my hand in again with a little practice."

Davison would not talk about the reforms he is expected to initiate in the service.

"I must get my legs first—learn how the wheels go round here in the department," he said.

"Later I shall fly to all the training fields and get acquainted with the men and the problems."

This millionaire son of the late Henry P. Davison, of Morgan and Company, was as worried by the battery of cameras and questions as any first day cabinet official.

PETITIONS BEING CIRCULATED HERE

Interest in the movement for repeal of the Ohio primary law and return to a modified convention plan of nominating candidates for public office is growing in Xenia and Greene County with circulation of petitions.

The state requires 200,000 signatures before the issue can be submitted to voters at the election this fall and many appear to be signing the petitions.

The movement is being sponsored by C. L. Knight, Akron publisher, who is state chairman of the primary referendum committee.

RESIGNS POSITION ON CHURCH BOARD

Resignation of F. F. Keyes as secretary of the official board of the First M. E. Church was accepted by the quarterly conference of the state on Friday night. Mr. Keyes, who held the office several years, resigned because he has moved to Dayton.

C. A. Bone was elected secretary to fill the vacancy.

Reports of various church officials including that of the pastor were received at the conference which was largely attended. Dr. Jesse Swank, superintendent of the Dayton District presided.

LEARN OF DEATH

Mrs. Frank Robertson has received word of the death of her brother-in-law, James F. Caldwell, which took place Friday morning at his home, 22 E. State St., Springfield, after an illness of five months duration. He is survived by his widow, formerly Miss Sallie H. Miller, of near this city, whom he married June 8, 1892, and a son, Arthur M., at home. Funeral services will be held at the home at 2:30 Monday afternoon. Interment in Fern Cliff Cemetery.

RE-OPEN PROBE OF HALL-MILLS MURDER CASE IN NEW JERSEY

Maid Questioned For Part
In Slaying Of Minister

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., July 17.—Informed that the key to the Hall-Mills murder of four years ago lies with a former maid in the home of the Rev. Edward W. Hall, county authorities and state police today re-opened the investigation that has lain dormant since 1923.

Mrs. Louise Riehl, the maid, was questioned by Prosecutor John E. Toolan of Middlesex County, about charges made by her husband, Arthur S. Riehl, in a petition for annulment of their marriage.

Riehl charged his wife was "a participant in or an accessory to" the murder of Hall, pastor of the Protestant Episcopal Church of St. John the Divine in New Brunswick and Mrs. Eleanor Mills, choir singer and wife of the church sexton. Hall and Mrs. Mills, shot to death, were found laid out under a tree on the Phillips farm in the adjoining county of Somerset on Sept. 14, 1922.

Riehl's petition charges his wife, while a maid in the Hall home, had improper relations with the pastor; that she received $5,000 for her part in the murder and that she was one of an automobile party that drove from the Hall home to the Phillips farm on the night of the murder. The others in the car, the petition said, were Mrs. Hall and her brother, Willie Stevens and Peter Tumulty, Hall's chauffeur.

Mrs. Riehl, who lives two miles from here was brought to Toolan's office and questioned for hours. She subsequently refused to discuss the case with newspaper men.

What action will be taken on the new angle of the case seemed problematical today.

STATE UNIVERSITY LAW COLLEGE DEAN DIES IN COLUMBUS

John Jay Adams Is Called
After Stroke Of
Apoplexy

COLUMBUS, O., July 17.—John Jay Adams, dean of the Ohio State University College of Law for seventeen years, died here today. He was seventy-five years old.

Dean Adams, in ill health for the past two and one-half years, suffered a stroke of apoplexy Wednesday night.

He was one of the best known men on the campus. He came to the university on August 7, 1908, from Zanesville, Ohio, where he had practiced law as a member of the firm of Munson and Adams.

From 1895 to 1901 he was a judge of the Ohio circuit court, fifth circuit. He was born near Dresden, Muskingum County, Ohio, November 18, 1860. He was graduated with a bachelor of arts degree from Kenyon College in 1879 and ten years later went back to receive a master's degree. In 1910 he was honored with the degree of doctor of laws.

He was a teacher in the Harcourt Academy, Gambier, from 1879 to 1882. He was admitted to the Ohio bar, January 2, 1883, and practiced in Zanesville under the firm of Munson and Adams, until he received his judgeship in 1896.

In 1901 he went back to his practice until he was appointed dean of the law college.

Dean Adams held many honors.

WILLS PRACTICES

NEW YORK, July 17.—Helen Wills, the national women's tennis champion expected to practice again today at Forest Hills. She appeared on the courts yesterday for the first time since her recent escape from Paris for appendicitis.

YOUTH KILLED BY POLICE AFTER HOLDING UP UNIVERSITY CO-ED

CHICAGO, July 17.—A 19-year-old youth was shot and killed by police last night after he and a companion had held up a University of Chicago co-ed and her student escort in the Hyde Park district.

The dead holdup man was identified as Bernard Carmichael, of Milan, Missouri. Papers in his pocket indicated that he also was a student at a local university. He was struck in the temple, dying on the way to a hospital. The

TORNADO CLAIMS THREE LIVES IN WISCONSIN

Storm Sweeps Farming Community and Small Settlements—Girls Lifted and Thrown To Ground By Twister

ASHLAND, Wis., July 17.—Three persons are dead, a large number of others were seriously injured and property damage unestimated was caused when a tornado swept through the farming community west and south of here last night.

The dead: Mabel and Julia Johnson, 18 and 20 respectively. Albert Anderson, 12.

Three communities, Ashland, Jet Merengo and Mellon, were almost directly in the path of the storm. The storm first struck at Ashland Junction and moved southeast leveling farm buildings. The funnel-shaped cloud moved on to Merengo and then swept the farming community near Mellon and disappeared.

The two Johnson girls were helping with the chores on the farm of their father, Otto Johnson, were lifted bodily from the ground and carried several yards. The impact with which they struck the ground killed them instantly. The girls' parents were injured.

REV. F. W. STANTON RESIGNS AS PASTOR FIRST M. E. CHURCH

Minister Will Take Year's
Leave Of Absence
Soon

The Rev. F. W. Stanton, pastor of the First M. E. Church for the last two years, presented his resignation at the quarterly conference of his church Friday night, subject to action by the annual West Ohio Conference which convenes in Toledo, September 7.

Dr. Stanton is asking for a year's leave of absence from his ministerial work, and in the meantime the pastor and his wife will retire to a new home they are building in Franklin, where Dr. Stanton formerly held a pastorate. They plan to leave Xenia in September, when Dr. Stanton will be released from his pastorate here by the conference, it is expected.

Announcement of his resignation as local pastor and his desire to take a year's rest was made by Dr. Stanton at the close of his report to the quarterly conference which was presided over by Dr. Jesse Swank, superintendent of the Dayton District. Dr. Swank will present his resignation and his request for a year's leave of absence from

"ANY ICE TODAY LADY?" SAYS RED

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., July 17.—Admitting he was a "big flop" before the cameras, "Red" Grange quit the movies on short notice today and announced he was going back to the home town to resume his ice business.

"As a movie actor I'm a good ice man," said the famous gridiron star. "I'm leaving for Wheaton tomorrow. I've got my old job back, driving one of Thompson's ice trucks at $18 per week. Boy, I'm happy."

"Red" proudly displayed a wire from his former boss, L. C. Thompson, Wheaton's ice magnate, informing him he was elected to his old route, if he wanted it.

PRISONER SAWS WAY TO FREEDOM

LAWRENCEBURG, Ky., July 17.—Sawing his way through the bars of his cell at the Anderson County Jail, Thomas Pulliam, 25 years old, serving a term for having issued worthless checks, escaped this morning.

Search is being made of surrounding territory and an investigation is under way to determine who smuggled the saws to the prisoner.

Five back saws and half of a saw blade were found in the walls following the discovery of the escape.

Three other prisoners who did not leave declared they were not awakened by the noise.

UNCLE SAM SELLS HERRING TO NETS

CLEVELAND, July 17.—Everything from hair nets to herring was sold here by Uncle Sam at an auction in the Federal building which netted the government over $20,000. The sale was to dispose of articles that had been unclaimed, abandoned or seized by the customs department.

A collection of guns and rifles was sold to dealers for $11,000. Gas engines, tents, toys, straw hats, mineral water, pearls, olive oil, pickles, watches, radios and an empty cheese case were among the items sold to bidders.

OUTLINE SOLUTION OF EDITOR'S DEATH DURING LAST RITES

Mellett's Paper Will Carry
On Fight Against
Crooks

CANTON, O., July 17.—County, state and city officials were meeting here today to lay plans to solve the murder of Don R. Mellett, publisher of the Canton Daily News, without the aid of police.

While thousands were paying the tribute of an awakened citizenry at the bier of the slain editor, the conferees were outlining a course of action which they hoped would not only bring to justice the assassins, but would overthrow for all time the domination of the underworld over Canton politics.

What Mellett had failed to achieve in life, he is to accomplish in death.

"We carry on" is the militant battlecry sounded editorially in the newspaper of which Mellett was the publisher.

Whether the Canton police have had any direct agreements with the underworld or not is a question yet to be proved, but officials—whose lips are sealed publicly by fear of such bloody reprisals as that of Thursday night, in private express the opinion that confidence has been lost and the police have no place in the investigation.

The funeral of Mellett is scheduled for this afternoon. By a grim prank of fate the services will be conducted in a church which was the target several years ago for a bombing. The act was attributed to vice lords who later became the enemies of Mellett in his good government campaign. Dynamite was used and the church building was partly destroyed. The pastor had incurred the enmity of the underworld, by his pulpit utterances.

Hickman Mellett, a brother of the slain editor will return to Canton immediately after Mellett's funeral in Indiana, to take part in the investigation.

"We don't want any help from the Canton police, and don't expect any," he said. "In fact Lloyd (another brother and city editor of the Canton News) ran them out of the house yesterday when they came here after the murder."

"If the situation in Canton is to be cleared up—and it smells to the heavens—other agencies than the police are the ones to do it."

"The underworld was at the end of its rope. They couldn't stand the gaff that Don was giving them. They were desperate and they took the desperado's gamble. They would stop Don or be stopped."

They even sent overtures to us that it would be worth $100,000 to us if we could quiet Don."

Roland Mellett declared the slaying of his brother was a challenge, not only to the good citizenship of Canton but to the state and nation.

FIVE ARRESTED FOR DEATH OF YOUNG GIRL

BOSTON, July 17.—With Dr. Thomas E. Walsh, his wife and three other persons already under arrest, detectives today sought two more suspects in connection with the death of Miss Edith Louise Greene, 19-year-old hospital attaché.

The physician and his wife surrendered in the office of District Attorney Thomas C. O'Brien, after they had been hunted three days.

Dr. Walsh was held under $15,000 bond and early today his wife was released under $2,000 bail. Dr. Walsh will be arraigned in superior court, Monday, charged with performing an illegal operation on Miss Greene, whose dismembered body was found Tuesday in two cardboard boxes and a burlap bag near Mattapan Cemetery. Mrs. Walsh also will be arraigned at that time on a charge of being an accessory.

TWELVE YEARS AGO AND NOW

Any man, and his wife, and their children, are civilization. A family is history; all there is of it. The story of the world is the story of a home, repeated to infinity with changing environments and unchanging principle. The reader, any reader, is a complete sum of life.

Twelve years ago (July 23) the former German kaiser was trout fishing near Balholm, in his yacht, the Hohenzoller. At trout dinner of 200 covers was laid for his Norwegian friends. Forty war vessels formed the accompanying squadron ready to escort the departure at Sunday daybreak. At midday of Saturday, July 24, William II got the warning tidings. On July 28 Austria declared war against Serbia. The war was on. Twelve years ago! Today the powers are trying to settle it.

The war was outwardly a thing of nations; a vast array of anonymous entities identified solely of flags. Inwardly it was a thing which reached into a certain home, scooped out therefrom its man-power, laid a cold hand of hunger and misery on the hearth and darkened the whole future for women and children by a process of annihilation. Civilization proves itself by the individual, and in no other way; war proves itself by the individual; and in no other way. Reduced to the lowest common denominator life is one man, one woman, one child; their fortunes are the fortunes of war. Not 10,000,000 casualties but 10,000,000 families was the price of war, each one of the 10,000,000 a living thing, with joy in the sunshine, curiosity for the streets and a realization of living.

What did the price purchase? What statesman was advanced to fortune? What new empire rose on the rubbish of desolation? Who has builded fame from the bones of these men and the broken hearts of these women? This dismal payment coined from wretchedness and sacrifice, what has it bought?

Progress, just progress. Nothing else. Perhaps in a wiser age the same thing could have been secured by deliberation in the closet of calm counsel. But such as we are, in a world still young, we learned the lesson by amazement, by confusion, by shock, by the ultimate of exhausting effort, by battle and agony and sudden death, and the loneliness of the bereaved.

Yet 1926 is not 1914; and that which was 1914, its characteristics and essentials, never can be again. Not only the calendar has moved, but human thought has advanced. The decade simply consummated a century. What began in France and the American states and took its first pause for breath with the down-fall of Napoleon came to strength and articulation in the years of the World War. Nothing is the same; not men and women nor their lives. Eras end and begin that way, and grave-stones and battlefields not infrequently are the dividing line.

There is one indestructible fact which history shouts down "the corridors of time," it is the inexorable release of the popular tendency. Men, individual giants, make great events, but the people make history. Statesmen may cling to this tradition and chancelleries may claim that or the other dispensation; but the simple fact is that democracy, not as a theory but as a state of living, made a gigantic stride forward and neither statesmen nor nations are what they were.

In short, the World War enthroned the ideal of popular government and the struggle now is to realize the ideal and make it effective. Progress is slow; civilization often blind. But slowly, surely, inexorably, resolute man advances his home and those who inhabit it nearer to the center of life; slowly, surely, inexorably the world pivots on an axis of liberty; slowly, surely, inexorably, democracy takes into its own hands the destiny of this mystery we call the world.

That seized, the problem is no less, but it is a new one; it is the problem of 1926 and what is to come, and is related to 1914 and what is past only as two chapters of a story. And to the extent that the citizen of all the world holds this long-sought authority, on him rests the responsibility to fulfill his opportunity. Summed up, it is active citizenship; and he who denies that, whether in living or in voting or in serving, is denying himself and those for whom he lives the fruits of the civilization which, through such long, slow centuries, has accumulated on his hearth.

Today's Talk

THE JOY

No matter how well we may think we have discovered the secret of aspiration or its urge there will always remain, locked tightly in the human heart—in the most secret chamber of that heart—the something which no word of poet or writer has ever been able to explain—that substance, it such it may be called, that explains the joy which keeps men and women strivers.

Stevenson hints of this in his sketch, "The Lantern Bearer." He says: "And the true realism, always and everywhere, is that of the poets; to find out where joy resides, and give it a voice far beyond singing. For to miss the joy is to miss all. In the joy of the actors lies the sense of any action."

We must be our own translators of life. No hired "pony" can do. An artist must lace his own shoes, arrange his own tie, and select his own headgear. You can't direct feeling nor can you breed personality. Like Hebe, this joy that lives to rare deep in a man's soul, must spring from a pearl shell. It's all mystery. But its rays may be seen from the sun streaming across a carpet. Strange that we search so far and long for this joy when so often it lies within us and we are carrying it far and near, not knowing! Perhaps it comes from the touch of something which no word of poet or writer has ever been able to explain—that substance, it such it may be called, that explains the joy which keeps men and women strivers.

Stevenson hints of this in his sketch, "The Lantern Bearer." He says: "And the true realism, always and everywhere, is that of the poets; to find out where joy resides, and give it a voice far beyond singing. For to miss the joy is to miss all. THE FRIENDLY MOUSEKEEPER

Not long ago I was visiting a friend in a nearby town, and as we sat on her screened-in porch, sewing, a pleasant-faced young woman flew past the house in a car and waved gaily.

"What a cheerful looking girl!" I exclaimed.

"Yes—and she's always just the same," replied my hostess. "In all the seven years she has lived in our neighborhood, she has never had a chip on her shoulder." She has faith in people—believes in their good intentions, no matter how they act toward her.

"For instance," she continued, "I ran into her in a crowd in the market district yesterday, and just as she started to say something to me, another friend touched me on the shoulder and I absent-mindedly turned my back on Mrs. Z. I had an important matter to discuss with the woman who had touched my shoulder, and actually forgot that Mrs. Z. had started to speak to me! Yet she understood; from her friendly wave just now, you can see that she made allowances for my rudeness."

"There," I broke in, "that is just the phrase I have been searching for, to describe that type of woman: the woman 'who makes allowances.' So often we speak or act impulsively, or we fail to say or do the thing we should do because we are harassed by some secret reason—yet how few of our friends 'make allowances' for our frailties! How few of them will give us that gift which is more precious than gold—the gift of a 'Second Chance'!"

"It often seems as if people were just waiting for a chance to be harsh," sighed my friend, "I never make a social mistake, but I have to pay double or even triple! Why can't all women be like Mrs. Z. and try to see that everybody makes a mistake, now and then, a mistake based on carelessness or rooted in absent-mindedness, or perhaps a mistake caused by sheer fatigue or hidden worry?"

"Do you view the world with Mrs. Z's generosity of spirit?" I asked a little maliciously, and she laughed and turned the question back on me.

"We can try to, anyway," I suggested. "Charitable-mindedness may be a talent, and Mrs. Z. may be exceptionally endowed with it—but even if it doesn't come quite as naturally to the rest of us, we can acquire it."

THIS WOMAN'S BATTLE

Wins Against Ill Health

"At times I was hardly able to do my housework," writes Mrs. Margaret Wallace, of 1547 Safford Ave., Columbus, Ohio. How many women have found themselves in this same condition! How many women have fought bravely on day after day, looking, washing, ironing, doing the dishes, and keeping the house clean, when they were in a weakened condition and had not sufficient strength to perform these duties.

A friend advised her to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and she gave it a fair trial. "I just can't give enough thanks to it," she writes. "Now I can eat anything at all and I am feeling better than I have for years. I shall never be without your medicine again."

A woman who is fighting for her health and her family's happiness is a valiant soldier. She wages her battle in her own kitchen. She has no thrilling bugles to cheer her on, no waving banners.

Many other women tell us, as Mrs. Wallace did that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has restored their health.

As a result of this decision, the 1926 fair will be the largest and best-balanced in the history of its eighty-seven years, it is believed.

Secretary Bryson says this year's premiums easily exceed any high marks of previous years.

A considerable amount of this total has been assigned to the speed department for which $3,400 in purses is offered. Of the aggregate money assigned, much of this is in the live stock department as a result of new and different classifications this year.

ON Greene County History

MOUNT IDA

Cedarville Twp. had at least one interesting village of the "paper" variety, a village born of the brain of Robert Jackson.

The creature of his imagination responded to the classical name of Mount Ida.

It found a resting place in Military Survey, Nos. 605 and 616 in Cedarville Twp.

It was surveyed by J. Culbertson April 24, 1841, certified by a justice of the peace June 19, 1841 and filed for record June 23, 1841.

That plat shows one street, with twelve lots on the west side and five lots on the east—a total of seventeen lots.

This village is another case of a man who had a vision which he attempted to materialize, only to find that it was a vision after all.

Today the place is not even a memory, and would be unknown if its plat were not recorded among the archives in the Court House.

THOMAS AGREES TO ACCOMPANY POLICE

Frank Thomas, 45, colored, former Xenian, wanted in Philadelphia, Pa., on a charge of murder, waived extradition following his arrest in Franklin Thursday night, and is being held pending the arrival of Philadelphia authorities.

Thomas made his home at 1133 E. Third St., this city, from 1920 to 1923 or 1924.

Recognizing Thomas from police circulars, Marshal W. E. Graham made the arrest.

The negro is said to have admitted the slaying of William Latimore, colored, brother of his daughter-in-law in Philadelphia, last January, the outgrowth of a domestic quarrel. He declared he fired in self defense.

Modish Mitzi

A FEW THINGS MITZI WANTS TO KNOW ABOUT

By Jay V. Jay

"There are just a few things, I simply must see, Polly," says Mitzi as they stroll under the shadow of the Capitol Dome. "I don't want to put them off another day, or they might be gone." It is evident that Mitzi is not talking about the scenery. Polly wears a transparent shade hat and Mitzi a silk turban.

When Mitzi speaks so definitely it is usually about fashions. So they go shopping. "I know that flowered chiffon would look adorable on you, Polly," encourages Mitzi. The skirt is very short and tiered with bands of the plain material edging the tiers. The neck has a rounded collar.

"Well, girls," says Dad, including Aunt Sophia who sits opposite him in this chummy fashion. "I think Mitzi's idea to tour the country and learn something about it is good. I saw the House of Representatives, today. Interesting, you know, very." "Yes," absent mindedly joins in Mitzi, while she consults the menu, "so were the printed chiffons with capes to them." Dad ignores the remark and rehearses the history of Bills that have been presented before the House which makes Mitzi slightly uncomfortable, reminding her of two of another kind that Dad is soon to know about in detail.

The Theatre

"Mannequin" the movie presented here recently and the novel by the same name, which together constitute the $50,000 prize story and movie of Liberty Magazine are brain children of the popular Fannie Hurst although it is rumored that this versatile writer would like to disinherit both.

It all came about through a conversation with her husband and her mother in which the comparative earning power of Miss Hurst or rather, Mrs. Davidson, with the earning power of Kathleen Norris, the wife of Charles G. Norris, was discussed. All agreed that since Mrs. Norris is the more prolific, her earning power is probably proportionately greater.

Then Fannie's husband suggested that she might increase her income with little effort by writing a synopsis to be entered in the Liberty contest. Under the terms of the contest, the magazine was to award $25,000 for the winning synopsis and then either commission the author or another writer to prepare the novel for an additional $25,000.

Miss Hurst dashed off her synopsis hurriedly and was surprised to learn she had won the synopsis prize and been commissioned to do the novel. This she also produced hurriedly with the result that when it appeared in print, she felt that it was not up to her standard.

She was much chagrined then to find that in accepting the prize money she was required to assist direction of the movie. She rebelled but finally consented when offered a bungalow in Hollywood and an auto during her stay there. She was chagrined again when she learned that she had no voice in the publication rights and that distribution of the novel in book form would not only put a story in circulation of which she was not very proud but would also bring her no financial advantage. She stood to be paid less than if she had written a novel and had it published herself.

To cap it all Miss Hurst next learned that the British rights on the novel were for sale and was reminded by Liberty that they had authority to distribute the book as they saw fit. Believing the novel, not being up to her standard, would hurt her with her British public, she bought the British rights herself. She is now wondering if she will have to buy the rights for other countries to suppress the novel and if so, how much of the $50,000 prize she will have left.

GREENE COUNTY STORES SANITARY SAYS INSPECTOR-GROCERY CUSPIDOR PASSE

People who deal in food commodities are usually anxious to obey the laws regulating their business, and respond readily to recommendations made to them, according to James I. Martin, an inspector attached to the dairy and food division of the State Department of Agriculture, who spent the last several days investigating dairies, groceries and other places handling food products for sale, in Xenia and vicinity.

"I found things in good shape," said Mr. Martin. "Sanitation regulations are being observed, and this is not only true in stores in the city, but pretty generally in small outlying groceries and rural stores."

"I was pleased to observe that a number of recommendations I had made during my last visit of inspection had been carried out. The policy of our department is to prosecute only as a last resort when proprietors neglect or refuse to follow the law by obeying our suggestions and recommendations, given in a friendly way," said Inspector Martin.

Detroit St., Mr. and Mrs. Williamson will motor to Troy and their daughter-in-law and granddaughter will accompany them to Xenia. Mrs. Williamson and Nancy expect to spend the heated season in the north.

Miss Anna Mae Patterson of Leaman St., is entertaining her cousins, Miss Virginia Gray and Miss Dorothy Hughes of Cincinnati, over the week end.

Funeral directors of the district comprising Warren, Greene Highland, Clinton and Fayette Counties, plan meeting in Waynesville Monday night. Local members of the association will attend.

Mr. and Mrs. William A. Taylor, Washington D. C., are the parents of a son, William Cisco, born at McClellan Hospital Saturday morning. The baby weighs seven and three-quarter pounds. Mrs. Taylor was formerly Miss Marie Cisco, who was born and reared in Xenia. Mr. and Mrs. Taylor have been visiting Mr. T. R. Spencer and his sister, Miss Lillian Spencer, of the Jamestown Pike.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen McClain are expected home today after spending a week on a motoring trip through southern Indiana.

SOCIETY HOLDS MEMORIAL MEETING

A memorial service commemorating Mrs. S. B. Yockey, founder of the Women's Missionary Society of the Reformed Church, featured a meeting of the missionary society of the First Reformed Church Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. L. Miller, N. Detroit St. Mrs. Yockey, whose death occurred recently at her home in Springfield, founded the Women's Missionary Society in 1869, when the Ohio Synod of the Reformed Church was in session in Delaware. She worked hard in promoting the new organization and before many years was rewarded by seeing it grow into a strong society.

Mrs. C. L. Jobe read a sketch of Mrs. Yockey's life and her connection with the missionary movement and Mrs. Almada Gowdy told of the Almira Yockey scholarship for girls. A solo number was sung by Mrs. Edwin Buck, and the program closed with prayer by Mrs. J. W. Peterson. A social hour and supper on the lawn of the Miller home, followed.

BIRTHDAY SURPRISE ENJOYED BY COMPANY

Complimenting their son, Edwin Scammahorn, on the twenty second anniversary of his birth, Mr. and Mrs. John Scammahorn entertained a company of friends at supper and a dancing party last Friday evening. The affair was a surprise to the honor guest. It was enjoyed by Mrs. Clara Hillier of Toledo, whose birth anniversary fell on the same date; Mr. and Mrs. William Engle of Dayton; Miss Polly Davis of Lima; Miss Madge Davis, Miss Esther Ford, Miss Donna Free.

Mrs. Frank Edwards has been suffering from tonsillitis for the last two weeks, is able to be up and around again.

MORGAN BACK AFTER WESTERN JOURNEY

President Arthur E. Morgan of Antioch College, returned to his home in Yellow Springs this week after spending a month in the west in connection with college affairs and civil engineering interests of his own.

Mr. Morgan spent some time in New Mexico in his capacity as consulting engineer for reclamation work that is taking place along the Rio Grande River, for 100 miles, with headquarters in Albuquerque.

He delivered the commencement address at Denver University in June, and spent some time in San Francisco and Los Angeles. He said that he was there in the interest of college finances.

Mrs. Morgan and her daughter Frances, who went to Europe in the spring, are expected to return next month accompanied by Griscom Morgan who has been in school in Switzerland.

ZIMMERMAN

Miss Louise Treharne and brother, Horace, enjoyed a delightful week's cruise on a steamer from Detroit to Duluth and return. Following which they will visit with relatives in Detroit and in Canada. The Annual 4th of July S. S. picnic was held at I. M. Coy's barn and A. D. Hendricks woods Monday July 5. In spite of the inclement weather in the morning there was a good attendance. Croquet and baseball were enjoyed. Also the bountiful dinner and ice cream.

Fred Smart, wife and children have returned from Chicago where they visited the former's sister, Mrs. William Zellars and family.

Mrs. T. W. Treharne graciously entertained twenty-one members of the Community Club Wednesday afternoon, July 1. After the business session Miss Ruth Criger of the O'Brien School of Dayton, whose charming personality and clever impersonations give her an enviable popularity with her audiences, gave several delightful readings and impersonations which were enthusiastically received.

Mrs. T. W. Treharne Mrs. R. E. Ferguson and Miss Lida Ferguson Mr. Ed Shoup and committee from were appointed to co-operate with the Alpha and Benham Schools in promoting the Religious Educational Work in the three schools for the 1926-27 term.

Two piano solos were played by Miss Kable.

A shrubbery and tree leaves guessing contest was a pleasant feature of the afternoon. Mrs. H. M. Stewart won first prize and Thelma Stewart and Miss Lida Ferguson tied on second prize.

A dainty salad course was served by the hostesses.

Present were Mrs. H. C. Haverstick, Miss Ruth Criger, Mrs. Kable, Miss Etta Marie Kable, Mrs. Clisti Sipe, Mrs. Dan Dice, Mrs. George Ferguson, Miss Lida Ferguson, Miss Lizzie Haverstick, Mary Haverstick, Mrs. Kate Haverstick Mrs. R. E. Ferguson, Mrs. Frank Barron, Miss Mary Barron, Mrs. H. M. Stewart, Thelma and Nadine Stewart, Miss Julia Lantz, Miss Julia Fleming and Mrs. Treharne.

Beautiful patriotic solos were sung. July fourth by Misses Grace Miller and Vesper Rosell. The latter also gave a reading. The song "The Star-Spangled Banner" was sung and followed by the Pledge of Allegiance by the children and young people of the S. S. followed by an appropriate and patriotic Address by Rev. Eldemiller.

Thomas Treharne is spending his vacation with home folks.

Committee from the Benham and Zimmerman Community Clubs met at the home of Mr. Edwin Shoup director of the Religious Education for the schools of Beaver Creek Twp. Saturday evening to discuss plans for continuing the work during the 1926-27 term of school. The consensus of opinion expressed was that it was a splendid thing for the children and should be heartily supported and if possible extended to include other grade schools and the high schools. The enthusiastic commendations of the work done by Miss Lena Behrend as teacher, by parents and public school teachers present made one realize more vividly the wonderful possibilities for good for the moral and spiritual training of the boys and girls with special religious education teacher, school teacher and parents, heartily co-operated in making the course effective. Mr. Shoup read the financial report for the past year which was as follows:

Overhead, $35.00.
Busfare, $19.80.
Teaching, $238.00.
Equipment $12.89.
Supplies $5.79.
Total $361.48, which sum was paid to Miss Blanche Carrier as director of religious education of Dayton and who also directs the work here.

The contract for the term 1926-27 for the Alpha, Zimmerman and Benham schools for one hour instruction for each school room calls for an expenditure of $351.96 and was signed by Mr. Shoup and the officers of the Community Clubs. Present were Mrs. Barnes, Mrs. George Toms, Misses Carrie and Charlotte Lewis of Benham district, Mrs. Treharne, Mrs. R. E. Ferguson and Mrs. H. M. Stewart of Zimmerman Club. Alpha Community Club was not represented but had previously expressed the intention to continue work.

THOUSANDS VISIT SHOWROOMS TO SEE THE NEW WHIPPET

TOLEDO, O., July 17.—Overwhelming interest was shown by the American public in the introduction by Willys-Overland of the new Whippet light weight car with four wheel brakes and thirty miles to the gallon of gasoline.

Approximately two million people viewed the cars in dealer's showrooms the first week.

Sixty-two thousand visitors came into the New York sales room at 50th St. the first three days.

Thirty-five thousand visitors the first two days in Chicago.

Twenty-seven thousand one hundred and twenty-two the first two days in Milwaukee.

Fourteen thousand at the opening in Elmhurst.

Six thousand at Grand Rapids.

Two hundred and thirteen thousand in the combined dealer establishments in the Detroit territory.

Orders with deposits were booked plans to increase production as rapid far in advance of production. Willys-Overland has already made it as possible.

In the entire history of the automobile industry, no new car has registered the same tremendous enthusiasm of dealers, competitors and public. General comment is that this is the best light car ever produced in America, and that the price of seven hundred and thirty-five dollars is extremely low.

President John N. Willys states that the evidence shows clearly that this is unquestionably the beginning of an overwhelming trend which has set in in America toward greater efficiency in personal transportation.

STAR WINS ECONOMY RUN IN CALIFORNIA IN BOTH DIVISIONS

The Tenth Annual Los Angeles-Yosemite Economy Run recently staged under the auspices of the American Automobile Association, witnessed the triumph of both the Star Four and Star Six entries in this celebrated classic.

The route covers 360 miles over California's wonderful paved roads up the San Joaquin Valley with its steady grade and the tortuous, nerve-trying curves of the famous Wawona Road.

A Star Four Touring Car, driven by "Red" Hodnett, which averaged 29.09 miles per gallon of gas, with no perceptible oil consumption, carried off first honors in the Four Cylinder Class A-1 Event.

A Star Six Touring Car driven by "Ray" Rogers, averaged 23.6 miles per gallon of gas, and consuming one quart of oil on the 360 mile drive, won first prize in Class A-2 for Six-Cylinder Cars selling under $1,000.

The Los Angeles-Yosemite Economy or "Stingy" Run is an annual affair conducted under the official observation of the Contest Board of the American Automobile Association under rules that tend to develop the real economy of the entrants under actual driving conditions.

No coasting or throwing the clutch out is allowed, so that the records are a dependable criterion of automobile performance under normal driving conditions.

The Los Angeles-Yosemite Economy Run is regarded by the automobile industry as an outstanding event, the results of which are eagerly watched. A victory gives the winner both glory and prestige.

BOTH STRENGTH AND BEAUTY BUILT INTO FORD STEEL BODIES

Two outstanding factors in the building of the all-steel bodies for Ford cars account, in a large measure, for the instant popularity which greeted their introduction. In the first place, these bodies are made from steel, thereby insuring maximum strength of construction and more graceful lines. Secondly, the bodies are built to Ford specifications consistent with the Ford standards of quality. In addition, these sturdy bodies afford a high factor of safety.

The Tudor, one of the most popular cars of the Ford line, offers an interesting study of the new order of coach construction. Parts, cut exactly the right size to form the body, are produced at the Fordson plant of the Ford Motor Company and sent to the body plant for assembly. Here the staccato clatter of riveting guns suggests the fabrication of some skyscraper or steel ocean greyhound more than the building of an automobile body.

Jigs and fixtures play a prominent part in maintaining the standards of hairline accuracy in Ford body building. Through their use, every body part must fit exactly and any imperfection is made instantly apparent. By preserving this accuracy throughout construction and building in steel, a body is produced which is as nearly perfect as human ingenuity and mechanical science are able to make it, and as long lived as the Ford chassis itself.

Bryant Motor Sales, Market and Green Sts., handle Ford cars here.

WAR DEPARTMENT PURCHASES DODGE BROTHERS AUTOS

The Quartermaster General has awarded Dodge Brothers, Inc., a contract for ten sedans and seventy six touring cars for army use in different parts of the United States. The cars are in every respect Dodge Brothers standard product.

"The Dodge Brothers Sedan and Touring Car have been approved as suitable for Military Service after severe practical tests and are the present standard five passenger cars for army purposes," said Maj. General C. F. Cheatham, in announcing the purchase.

"The Dodge Brothers car have for a number of years been actually used in the United States Army, in Mexico, Europe, the Island Possessions and within the Continental limits of the United States, and found satisfactory for Military use."

This Quartermaster purchase follows an order from the Panama Canal Commission for twenty-one Dodge Brothers Motor Cars and Graham Brothers Trucks (both of which use the same engine) and more recently by an order from the U. S. Marines for twenty Graham Brothers Trucks. Last year the War Department purchased over fifty Dodge Brothers Motor Cars to replace as many which had been in service ever since the World War during which fully 20,000 of these cars were used. The additional orders are considered a significant tribute to the sturdiness and dependability of Dodge Brothers product.

RADIO LANGUAGE LESSONS FEATURE GERMAN PROGRAMS

BERLIN, July 17.—One of the minor booms which the Dawes plan brought to Germany was the radio.

During the inflation period, no broadcasting stations existed, because economic and political anarchy would have turned the radio to their own uses. Any one who then built himself a set to listen in on French or English stations was subject to a harsh penalty.

With the stabilization of currency and the subsequent political consolidation all this changed rapidly. Almost over night, Berlin and a few other large cities erected broadcasting stations which soon won enthusiastic clientele. Other, smaller cities built relay stations most of which transmit the Berlin program.

Today there are close to 1,500,000 licensed radio sets in Germany their number growing at the rate of several thousand a day. Of these approximately 70 per cent are crystal sets, the rest valve sets of varying capacity.

There are also a number of freebooters of the air, who evade the monthly license fee of half a dollar. Confiscation of their sets and heavy fines are the punishment meted out to these pirates, when they are found out by the special detectives of the postal authorities.

Corresponding to the rapid growth of broadcasting, the programs evolved from crude to nicely balanced selections. From the accompaniments to the daily dozen in the early morning hours to the final "Deutschland ueber Alles" at midnight, there is almost continuous transmission.

Naturally music plays a large part. Most of it is classical, but sometimes also the strains of a jazz band are wafted through the ether. All classical music is usually preceded by an introduction, telling the audience how to appreciate the mysteries of Beethoven, Haydn or Gluck. During certain nights the productions of the State Opera House are broadcast.

Sandwiched in between Kultur numbers are topical talks on many subjects ranging from the course of the planets to the soul-problems of Ibsen's characters and How to Exterminate Cockroaches. Although the authorities bar all not strictly non-controversial topics oc-asionally politics creep in, nevertheless. Thus a recent discourse on "Germany's Lost Colonies" reflected the growing sentiment in favor of a return of at least part of the colonies and was presumably endorsed by the radio censor.

The most outstanding feature, however, is the aerial language. The subjects taught are Esperanto, French and English, the latter preponderating. These lessons are broadcast from the Berlin station and its relays. It is estimated that there are at least a million sets within range of these stations and thus three times a week, men, women and children clap receivers on their heads and imbibe English sounds, English grammar, and incidentally, English ideals—all dispensed by an English university professor.

MRS. WHEELAN GETS CARTOONIST HONOR

It has been announced that Albertine Randall Wheelan, whose "Dumbbunnies" is a comic strip feature of The Gazette and The Republican has been selected chairman of the Advisory Board of the American Association of Cartoonists and Caricaturists. This honor has come to Mrs. Wheelan because of her outstanding work both as an artist and satirist. She is among the first of women artists to gain national attention.

Mrs. Wheelan, born in San Francisco of '49-er stock, studied art at the San Francisco School of Design where her versatility was exercised with every form of art, from book plates to stained glass windows. She has an international fame for stained glass window designing.

Mrs. Wheelan has lived in New York since 1906, the year of the San Francisco fire. She was first engaged by David Belasco to design the costumes for "Rose of the Rancho," and for Belasco productions for nearly fifteen years.

ESTABLISH NASH CO. STOCK ON DIVIDEND BASIS ANNOUNCED

At a meeting of the directors of The Nash Motors Company, Friday, July 9, action was taken in the form of establishing the stock on a regular dividend basis of 50¢ quarterly per share, and declaring $1 per share covering the first two quarters of this fiscal year which began December 1st, 1925, and, also, declaring an additional dividend of $1 representing an extra dividend of 50¢ per share for the past two quarters, both dividends payable August 2, 1926, to holders of stock at the close of business, July 20, 1926.

The company reported that for the second quarter of its 1926 fiscal year, covering the three months ending May 31, 1926, after deduction of all manufacturing expenses, including depreciation, selling, and administration, and provision for all taxes, including federal income tax, the net consolidated income for The Nash Motors Company and its subsidiary, the Ajax Motors Company, amounted to $6,010,824.45. Adding to this the income for the first quarter, amounting to $1,137,508.16, gives the company total earnings for the first six months of $7,148,332.61.

With reference to the condition of the company and the outlook for the future, President C. W. Nash expressed himself as being well satisfied with the soundness of general business and the prospect for continued excellent Nash sales.

"Our sales in number of units for the second quarter of the 1926 fiscal year were the largest in our history for a three-month period," stated Mr. Nash, "and our net income was also the largest for a like period in our history. The increase in cars sold for the second quarter over and above the same period of 1925 was seventy-three per cent, representing a total volume of business in excess of $72,000,000 for the six months period of this fiscal year."

"That the popularity of the Nash product with the public is growing rapidly, is evidenced by the fact that the month of May was the twenty-first consecutive month, with one exception, that sales exceeded the mark set by the corresponding month of the previous year; and since January 1, 1926, nearly six hundred new dealers have taken on the Nash line."

"Reports from our organization indicate that actual retail deliveries throughout the country are proceeding at the highest rate for this season of the year that the country has ever known."

"And with fundamental factors relative to crops and industrial employment in a healthy state, I am of the opinion that the commerce of the country can justifiably anticipate prosperity in practically all lines during the coming months."

"As far as the Nash product in particular is concerned, we look for our progress to continue on a more favorable basis than in the past. I believe it is a fact that the Nash product today is accepted by the public in general as being a product that they feel well justified in purchasing."

Nash is sold here by Xenia Motor Sales, S. Detroit St.

TRANSFER LICENSE PLATES FROM AUTOS CLUB HERE ADVISES

It has been necessary for the Deputy Commissioner in the license department of the Greene County Automobile Club to make several calls on motorists who have failed to transfer their license plates when changing from one car to the other. If you purchase a new or used car it is absolutely necessary that this license be transferred at the Deputy Commissioner's office within three days after the change of these plates.

It is also necessary to bring in to the office to make this transfer your Registration Certificate which you receive when you purchase your taks and also a bill of sale for the car which you have just purchased. Furthermore you must have your old car disposed of before you can transfer your tags.

It has been necessary for different motorists to buy new tags for the simple reason that when they purchase a new car they did not have the bill of sale made out in the same name as what the license tags were purchased on. It has also been necessary for the Deputy Commissioner to call motorists who are operating passenger cars on P. C. tags and truck tags and visa versa.

For failure to comply with the transfer laws the motorists can be fined not more than ($25.00.) Also your insurance can be made void for this failure.

POWERFUL MOTOR IS TALKING POINT FOR FEDERAL TRUCKS

The world-famous Federal-Knight sleeve valve truck motor powers the famous Federal-Knight truck, sold in Greene County exclusively by The Xenia Paige-Jewett Co., W. Main St.

No valves to grind, no carbon to clean, greater gasoline mileage, more power, fewer parts and less wear are a few of the talking points for this powerful truck unit. The manufacturers claim it is an engine that improves with use.

A sturdy, low swung frame assures quick handling and safe transportation of merchandise. The bevel-gear rear axle is of generous truck proportions, with large tapered roller bearings. The drive is through radius rods, leaving the springs free to cushion chassis and load. Special steering gear ratio gives prompt and easy response.

Other features include big pneumatic tires, strong, steel-spoke wheels, baked enamel hood and fenders, an efficient lubrication system, starter, generator and electric lights.

Thousands of miles of service are promised Federal-Knight buyers by the makers of this popular truck.

COUNTY WILL GET $10,000 GAS TAX

County Auditor R. O. Wead expects to receive a state draft for $10,000 soon, as Greene County's share of the latest gasoline tax fund distribution in the state.

Each of Ohio's eighty-eight counties is to receive a similar amount, it is announced.

Since the distribution was first begun last August, Greene County has received nearly $25,000.

All gasoline tax money is placed in the county road fund to be used for maintenance and repair of county highways.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester R. Gibson and sons, George and Jerry, who spent the last week visiting Mrs. Gibson's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Henkle of E. Third St., returned to their home in Columbus, Friday.

FAIRFIELD OFFERS BUDGET FOR 1927

The 1927 budget of Fairfield village containing a list of the probable needs for current operating expenses next year, was submitted to County Auditor R. O. Wead, Saturday morning.

This, added to others previously received, brings the total budgets submitted by the various taxing units in the county to eight. Budgets of five villages, two townships and one school district are already on file.

They will be considered by the County Budget Commission when that body meets in August.

MINISTER FIRST TO CAST PRIMARY VOTE

One vote has already been cast for the August 10 primary although the election is still twenty-four days away.

The Rev. David A. Sellars, pastor of the First Reformed Church, who intends taking a vacation and will be away from the city primary day, was the first to exercise his right to vote through the medium of the absent voters' ballots Saturday.

The ballots were available for the first time Saturday and may be had at the clerk of court's office in the Court House upon application to Earl Short, clerk of the board of elections.

These ballots will also be sent through the mail upon request and will be available until the Saturday night preceding the primary election, August 7.

Mr. Short estimates that absent ballot vote this time will total about 120, the average of other years.

Four applications for the ballots have been received through the mail.

RESERVES AND MERCHANTS TO BATTLE AT WASHINGTON PARK

With four consecutive victories under their belt, the Xenia Reserves will now turn their attention to much stiffer opposition in the form of the Xenia Merchants Sunday afternoon at Washington Park.

It will mark the first Reserve game since the managerial duties were shifted from G. H. Brockman to Chet Cyphers, the Reserve's stalwart moundsman, this week.

The Merchants hold a slight edge on paper due to a victory over the Springfield Millard Clothiers, while the Reserves have been turned back by the Reaper City crew on two occasions this summer.

However, the Reserve lineup of last Sunday will remain intact against the Merchants and a bitter finish fight is anticipated.

Cyphers will take care of the pitching end and will be put to the test to battle such a bunch of hard sluggers as are represented on the colored nine this season.

"Mouse" Porter is particularly dangerous and will be watched carefully. In other words Cyphers intends to set a "trap" for the "Mouse."

The Sunday contest inaugurating the second leg of the season, will get under way at 2:30 o'clock.

DELANEY CAPTURES TITLE BY DECISION OVER BERLENBACH

By HENRY L. FARRELL
NEW YORK, July 17.—One tall, handsome French-Canadian, known to his parents as Orville Chappelaine and registered in the fight records as Jack Delaney, checked out of his hotel in the "Roaring Forties" this morning and started back to Bridgeport, Conn., bearing the crown of the world's light-heavy-weight champion.

For one of the few times that a world's champion has changed hands on the decision of a referee and two judges in New York there were no experts or no losing betters at the trained to hurl razberries at the new champion.

Delaney so far out fought, out-boxed and out-smarted Paul Berlenbach in a fifteen round bout last night in the Brooklyn Ball Park that thousands of the 45,000 spectators who had paid a half million dollars to see the "battle of the ages" left their seats at the end of the tenth round to beat the rush for the limited transportation facilities resulting from the strike.

The score in baseball language was Delaney 10, Berlenbach 2 with three rounds even.

Delaney by the widest margins won the first, second, fourth, fifth, seventh, eleventh, twelfth, thirteenth, fourteenth and fifteenth rounds.

Berlenbach had a slight edge in the eighth and tenth round. The third, sixth and ninth rounds were called even simply because a champion—a falling champion—should be entitled to a little consideration.

The decision of the referee and the two judges that Delaney had won by a mile and was unanimous, there was no dispute.

Even Berlenbach, good sportsman that he always has been, gave his victorious rival a warm handshake and said:

"Jack, you took it, good luck!"

Delaney, with the cheers of the multitude roaring in his ears smiled a real movie smile and replied:

"It's all in the game, Paul. This must have been my night."

From the tap of the first gong, that brought those thousands of spectators to the rim of their chairs until the final rap of the bell which sent two weary fighters to their corners there never was a doubt as to the outcome.

Delaney hit Berlenbach on the jaw with left hooks, right hooks and left and right uppercuts. In the fifth, a left hook dropped Berlenbach to his knees, but he was on his feet and tearing back in on the attack before the count was started.

Berlenbach's right eye was damaged and his chin slit and Delaney's lips were cut and bruised and his body was punched red from the hard short jabs that Berlenbach landed at close quarters, but they both kept their feet, and were fighting rather weakly but desperately at the final bell.

With a weight advantage estimated from 10 to 12 pounds, Berlenbach was an even money choice when he entered the ring and the experts figured Delaney's jinx was still with him.

Delaney's brains overcame the weight advantage however.

Berlenbach kept watching and waiting for the right hand to the jaw that had knocked him out three years ago and Delaney crossed him, shooting to the body.

Xenia Country Club golfers will entertain members of the Washington C. H. Country Club in an inter-city match over the local course next Wednesday afternoon, according to a schedule arranged by Chalmers Murphy, chairman of the tournament committee.

Xenia has participated in but one match of the kind this season, with Middletown two weeks ago. The initial match resulted in defeat for the local team by a close count, but with the advantage of playing over a links of which they have a thorough knowledge, Xenia entertains hopes of winning.

The Wednesday match will be in charge of Don Currie, club professional.

OFFICIALS SCORN HELP OF POLICE

LYONS EXECUTION POSTPONED

DEATH DEFERRED BY
DECISION OF COURT
OF APPEALS FRIDAY

Judges Will Consider
New Plea Offered
By Attorney

COLUMBUS, O., July 17.—Jimmy Lyon, the youthful Havana, Ohio, bandit, who shot and killed Frank E. McGrath, special agent of the American Express Company, gloried in a new lease on life today.

Lyon was snatched from the shadow of the electric chair late yesterday when the Toledo court of appeals, composed of special judges, deferred the condemned man's execution from August 3 to Sept. 21.

The stay was granted so the judges will have ample time to dissect and deliberate on phases brought out by Melvin O. Rettig, Lyon's attorney, in an eloquent appeal for a new trial.

Rettig charged, in effect, that one of the jurors who condemned the youth to die, was prejudiced prior to Lyon's conviction, that Lyon would die for McGrath's murder.

Rettig further contended the bullet that killed McGrath may have come from the gun of fellow-officers who accompanied McGrath to the Lyon home in Havana to arrest Lyon and his brother Leonard, on robbery charges.

Court was composed of Judges Wade Cushing, Cincinnati; Robert S. Shields, Canton and Lewis B. Houck, Mount Sterling. Previously the regular court of appeals declined to rule on the appeal, announcing the while the court was divided and that the "grave nature of the case" necessitated convening of a special tribunal.

Rettig's contention throughout Lyon's trial, was that McGrath was slain by the bullet from another man's revolver. The state asserted Lyon shot the officer in cold blood to escape arrest and imprisonment.

Although no one was permitted to see Lyon today, the fact that he had been granted a new lease on life was communicated to him and he was reported extremely happy.

The condemned man's partial success, however, has spurred the state in its determination to send him to the electric chair and the appeal will be contested tenaciously.

LIONS CLUBS MEET IN SAN FRANCISCO

SAN FRANCISCO, July 17.—Ten thousand delegates and the stars in many parts of the world will gather in San Francisco July 19 for the tenth annual international convention of Lion clubs.

The convention will continue five days, of which time a "general share" will be devoted to pageants and features for entertainment of visitors and San Franciscans alike.

A picturesque note will be lent by the uniform costumes to be worn by delegates, white shoes and stockings, white shirt and collar, royal purple ribbon with the name of the wearer's den stamped in gold letters and navy blue coats.

An outstanding feature of the convocation will be a California historical pageant, in which twenty clubs from various parts of the state will each undertake presentation of some historical incident of its district.

FLEMING NAMED TO AGRICULTURE BOARD

COLUMBUS, July 17.—Gov. Vic Donahey today announced the appointment of Edward A. Fleming of Lowell, Washington County, as a member of the state board of agriculture. Fleming's term will expire in 1930.

He succeeds W. H. Pew, Ravenna. The governor also announced the re-appointment of H. H. Ludwig, of Van Wert, Republican to membership on the board.

LORAIN JOURNAL SPONSORS FUND

LORAIN, O., July 17.—Declaring that the influence and freedom of the press is being challenged by the underworld in the assassination of Don Mellett, crusading Canton newspaper publisher, the Lorain Journal in a front page editorial today called on Ohio newspapers to raise a fund to aid in the capture of the assassins.

The Journal started off this fund with a contribution of $100.

CHARGE OF DYNAMITE WRECKS THRESHING MACHINE ENGINE

Origin Of Blast Is Mystery—Enemies Suspected

An engine furnishing power to a threshing machine owned by the Needmore Threshing Co., on the farm of L. A. and G. F. Smith, seven miles from Xenia off the Wilmington Pike, was wrecked by a heavy charge of dynamite, thought by the Smiths to have been intentionally placed in the fire box at 9 o'clock Friday night.

The Smith family and company officials can advance no motive for the act. A check of the damage has not been completed.

V. L. Smith, a brother, reported he heard a Ford touring car pass along the highway in front of the farm house ten minutes before the explosion, saw it stop about 300 yards down the road, and later start away again shortly before the charge was set off. He was unable to see occupants of the car and at the time attached no importance to the incident.

The threshing machine was stored in the barn, but the engine had been placed outside. Several sticks of dynamite, probably with time fuses, had evidently been placed in the fire box, according to Foster Smith.

The Smith family is unable to ascribe a motive for the explosion but are convinced it was a deliberate attempt to demolish the engine.

The affair was not reported to the sheriff's office Saturday, but the Smiths announced they would probably enlist the aid of authorities in an investigation.

Linton Wells, left, and Edward S. Evans, right, were greeted in New York on the completion of their record-breaking trip around the world by John Henry Mears, center, who held the record before them. The pair made the circuit in twenty-eight days and 14 hours, lowering Mears's record by more than a week.

CHILD LEFT AS SECURITY FOR GROCERY BILL; NOW IN COURTS

Custody Denied Three People By Court—Girl In Detention Home Pending Settlement

CLEVELAND, O., July 17.—Deported by her parents as security for a debt, little Winifred Hipwell, 4, was in the detention home here today, expecting the next shift in her fast moving life to provide her with a permanent home.

Custody of the child was denied the mother, foster mother and an aunt late Friday by Judge Harry L. Eastman of juvenile court when he decided none of them were qualified to provide a proper home for the girl.

Winifred's mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hipwell, arrived last fall. The father went to Detroit, the mother to Chicago. They left their child with Mr. and Mrs. James Drake, as security for a ninety dollar grocery bill.

The Drakes had formed an attachment for the child and then the baby's aunt, Mrs. Anna Heffron, claimed her. Two months ago Winifred's mother took the child from Mrs. Heffron. The case got into court when Mrs. Drake sought to adopt the child. When her request was refused, she made a demand for $12 to pay for the girl's board and payment of the $90 grocery bill.

Judge Eastman ordered the debts paid, and advised Mrs. Hipwell that her daughter would be placed in a private home until the mother proves she is capable of properly rearing the girl.

POLICEMAN SHOTS MAN FATALLY AFTER HE SLAYS OWN SON

Fleeing Scene When Stopped By Bullet From Sergeant

CLEVELAND, July 17.—After stabbing to death his son, William, 23, Jason Galloway, 43, was shot and killed by Police Sergeant Philip Neilson today.

The tragedy was enacted at the Galloway home, in the presence of Galloway's wife and two children, and Perry Nicholson, a boarder. Young Galloway, according to the police version of the killings, was in the habit of doing his courtin' at home. His father disliked the practice and they often quarreled about it.

Early today the argument was renewed and the elder Galloway, police were told, seized a butcher knife and plunged it into his son's breast and throat.

William ran to the street, where Patrolman John Zicarelli and Henry Benzin found him. He was mortally wounded.

Jason fled through a rear lot and was scaling a fence when Zicarelli ordered him to halt. Galloway ignored the order and at this juncture Sergeant Neilson appeared. Neilson fired twice, killing Galloway instantly.

NEW AVIATION HEAD ASSUMES POSITION IN WAR DEPARTMENT

Young Davison Is Back
Back After Serious
Accident

WASHINGTON, July 17.—After nine years, Trubee Davison has come back.

When they picked him out of the wreckage of his plane with a dislocated spine one day in 1917, his friends said:

"If he gets out with his life, Davison is certainly through with aviation now."

But the blue-eyed, round-faced young man received the United Press today as the new boss who is to reform the much criticized army air service.

He is assistant secretary of war for aviation. "I'm frightened," he admitted, explaining that on this first day in his new office, Assistant Secretary Davis had gone away and made him acting secretary of war.

"Yesterday, after I was sworn in, I rushed to Bolling Field and flew—the first time in nine years. Of course, they sent up an expert pilot with me, but later he let me take the stick. Like old times, I skidded a bit around the curves, but I'll get my hand in again with a little practice."

Davison would not talk about the reforms he is expected to initiate in the service.

"I must get my legs first—learn how the wheels go round here in the department," he said.

"Later I shall fly to all the training fields and get acquainted with the men and the problems."

This millionaire son of the late Henry P. Davison, of Morgan and Company, was as worried by the battery of cameras and questions as any first day cabinet official.

Interest in the movement for repeal of the Ohio primary law and return to a modified convention plan of nominating candidates for public office is growing in Xenia and Greene County with circulation of petitions.

The state requires 200,000 signatures before the issue can be submitted to voters at the election. The fall and many appear to be signing the petitions.

The movement is being sponsored by C. L. Knight, Akron publisher, who is state chairman of the primary referendum committee.

RESIGNS POSITION ON CHURCH BOARD

Resignation of F. F. Keyes as secretary of the official board of the First M. E. Church was accepted by the quarterly conference of the church Friday night. Mr. Keyes who held the office several years, resigned because he has moved to Dayton.

C. A. Bone was elected secretary to fill the vacancy. Reports of various church officials including that of the pastor were received at the conference which was largely attended. Dr. Jesse Swank superintendent of the Dayton District presided.

LEARN OF DEATH

Mrs. Frank Robertson has received word of the death of her brother-in-law, James F. Caldwell, which took place Friday morning at his home, 22 E. State St., Springfield, after an illness of five months duration. He is survived by his widow, formerly Miss Salie H. Miller, of near this city, whom he married June 8, 1892, and a son, Arthur M., at home. Funeral services will be held at the home at 2:30 Monday afternoon. Interment in Fern Cliff Cemetery.

RE-OPEN PROBE OF HALL-MILLS MURDER CASE IN NEW JERSEY

Maid Questioned For Part
In Slaying Of Minister

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., July 17.—Informed that the key to the Hall-Mills murder of four years ago lies with a former maid in the home of the Rev. Edward W. Hall, county authorities and state police today re-opened the investigation that has lain dormant since 1923.

Mrs. Louise Riehl, the maid, was questioned by Prosecutor John E. Toolan of Middlesex County, about charges made by her husband, Arthur S. Riehl, in a petition for annulment of their marriage.

Riehl charged his wife was "a participant in or an accessory to" the murder of Hall, pastor of the Protestant Episcopal Church of St. John the Divine in New Brunswick and Mrs. Eleanor Mills, choir singer and wife of the church sexton. Hall and Mrs. Mills, shot to death, were found laid out under a tree on the Phillips farm in the adjoining county of Somerset on Sept. 14, 1922.

Riehl's petition charges his wife, while a maid in the Hall home, had improper relations with the pastor; that she received $5,000 for her part in the murder and that she was one of an automobile party that drove from the Hall home to the Phillips farm on the night of the murder. The others in the car, the petition said, were Mrs. Hall and her brother, Willie Stevens and Peter Tumulty, Hall's chauffeur.

Mrs. Riehl, who lives two miles from here was brought to Toolan's office and questioned for hours. She subsequently refused to discuss the case with newspaper men.

What action will be taken on the new angle of the case seemed problematical today.

STATE UNIVERSITY LAW COLLEGE DEAN DIES IN COLUMBUS

John Jay Adams Is Called
After Stroke Of
Apoplexy

COLUMBUS, O., July 17.—John Jay Adams, dean of the Ohio State University College of Law for seventeen years, died here today. He was seventy-five years old.

Dean Adams, in ill health for the past two and one-half years, suffered a stroke of apoplexy Wednesday night.

He was one of the best known men on the campus. He came to the university on August 7, 1908, from Zanesville, Ohio, where he had practiced law as a member of the firm of Munson and Adams.

From 1895 to 1901 he was a judge of the Ohio circuit court, fifth circuit. He was born near Dresden, Muskingum County, Ohio, November 18, 1860. He was graduated with a bachelor of arts degree from Kenyon College in 1879 and ten years later went back to receive a master's degree. In 1910 he was honored with the degree of doctor of laws.

He was a teacher in the Harcourt Academy, Gambier, from 1879 to 1882. He was admitted to the Ohio bar, 1883, and practiced in Zanesville until the firm of Munson and Adams, until he received his judgeship in 1896.

In 1901 he went back to his practice until he was appointed dean of the law college. Dean Adams held many honors.

NEW YORK, July 17.—Helen Wills, the national women's tennis champion, expected to practice again today at Forest Hills. She appeared on the courts yesterday for the first time since her operation in Paris for appendicitis.

CHICAGO, July 17.—A 19-year-old youth was shot and killed by police last night after he and a companion had held up a University of Chicago co-ed and her student escort in the Hyde Park district.

The dead holdup man was identified as Bernard Carmichael, of Milan, Missouri. Papers in his pocket indicated that he also was a student at a local university. He was struck in the temple, dying on the way to a hospital. The

Storm Sweeps Farming Community and Small Settlements—Girls Lifted and Thrown To Ground By Twister

ASHLAND, Wis., July 17.—Three persons are dead, a large number of others were seriously injured and property damage unestimated was caused when a tornado swept through the farming community west and south of here last night.

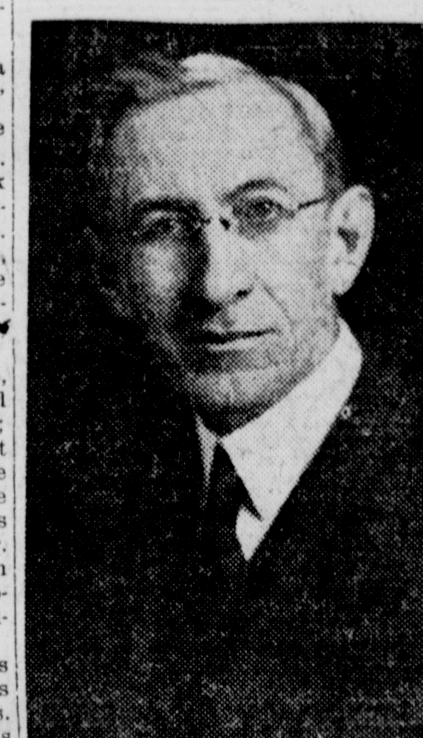

The dead: Mabel and Julia Johnson, 18 and 20 respectively. Albert Anderson, 12.

Three communities, Ashland Jet, Merengo and Mellon, were almost directly in the path of the storm. The storm first struck at Ashland Junction and moved southeast leveling farm buildings. The funnel-shaped cloud moved on to Merengo and then swept the farming community near Mellon and disappeared.

The two Johnson girls were helping with the chores on the farm of their father, Otto Johnson, were lifted bodily from the ground and carried several yards. The impact with which they struck the ground killed them instantly. The girls' parents were injured.

LEAVES PULPIT

REV. F. W. STANTON
Rev. F. W. Stanton, pastor of the First M. E. Church, has presented his resignation to the quarterly conference and will ask for a year's leave of absence from the ministry. He expects to move his family to a new home in Franklin, O. The Rev. Mr. Stanton has had the local pastorate two years.

YANKEE SENTENCED TO EIGHT YEARS BY FRENCH AS DESERTER

Bennett J. Doty, of Foreign Legion Is Given
Hard Labor

BEIRUT, Syria, July 17.—Bennett J. Doty, of Memphis, Tenn., 25 years old, was sentenced by a court-martial at Damascus today, to eight years' imprisonment at hard labor for having deserted from the French Foreign Legion, in which he enlisted under the name of "Gilbert Clare."

An officer, representing the government, as prosecutor, demanded the death penalty. Lieut. Gallifer, for the defense, eloquently described the brave conduct of Doty before his defection.

This conduct, he pointed out, had gained for Doty the Croix de Guerre, and he pleaded that the court grant a suspended sentence.

The hearing established "abandonment of post before armed rebels." The judgment of the court-martial declared this offense was proved, but it took note of extenuating circumstances.

Doty is the son of Lemuel H. Doty, a Memphis attorney, and is a veteran of the World War, in which he served with Battery E, One Hundred and Fifteenth Field Artillery, Thirtieth Division. He left the French lines in Southern Syria, where a campaign is under way to subdue the Druse tribesmen.

KILLED BY TRUCK
AKRON, O., July 17.—R. W. Currier, 21, of Brighton, was killed today when he fell beneath the wheels of a speeding Northern Ohio Power and Light Company truck.

YOUTH KILLED BY POLICE AFTER HOLDING UP UNIVERSITY CO-ED

CHICAGO, July 17.—A 19-year-old youth was shot and killed by police last night after he and a companion had held up a University of Chicago co-ed and her student escort in the Hyde Park district.

The dead holdup man was identified as Bernard Carmichael, of Milan, Missouri. Papers in his pocket indicated that he also was a student at a local university. He was struck in the temple, dying on the way to a hospital. The

Minister Will Take Year's
Leave Of Absence
Soon

The Rev. F. W. Stanton, pastor of the First M. E. Church for the last two years, presented his resignation at the quarterly conference of his church Friday night, subject to action by the annual West Ohio Conference which convenes in Toledo, September 7.

Dr. Stanton is asking for a year's leave of absence from his ministerial work, and in the meantime the pastor and his wife will retire to a new home they are building in Franklin, where Dr. Stanton formerly held a pastorate. They plan to leave Xenia in September, when Dr. Stanton will be released from his pastorate here by the conference, it is expected.

Announcement of his resignation as local pastor and his desire to take a year's rest was made by Dr. Stanton at the close of his report to the quarterly conference which was presided over by Dr. Jesse Swank, superintendent of the Dayton District. Dr. Swank will present his resignation and his request for a year's leave of absence from the conference.

"ANY ICE TODAY LADY?" SAYS RED

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., July 17.—Admitting he was a "big flop" before the cameras, "Red" Grange quit the movies on short notice today, and announced he was going back to the home town to resume his ice business.

"As a movie actor I'm a good ice man," said the famous gridiron star. "I'm leaving for Wheaton tomorrow. I've got my old job back, driving one of Thompson's ice trucks at $18 per week. Boy, I'm happy."

"Red" proudly displayed a wire from his former boss, L. C. Thompson, Wheaton's ice magnate, informing him he was elected to his old route, if he wanted it.

PRISONER SAYS WAY TO FREEDOM

LAWRENCEBURG, Ky., July 17.—Sawing his way through the bars of his cell at the Anderson County Jail, Thomas Paulman, 25 years old, serving a term for having issued worthless checks, escaped this morning.

Search is being made of surrounding territory and an investigation is under way to determine who smuggled the saws to the prisoner.

Five back saws and half of a saw blade were found in the walls following the discovery of the escape.

Three other prisoners who did not leave declared they were not awakened by the noise.

UNCLE SAM SELLS HERRING TO NETS

CLEVELAND, July 17.—Everything from hair nets to herring was sold here by Uncle Sam at an auction in the Federal building which netted the government over $20,000. The sale was to dispose of articles that had been unclaimed, abandoned or seized by the customs department.

A collection of guns and rifles was sold to dealers for $11,000. Gas engines, tenth, toys, straw hats, mineral water, peas, olive oil, pickles, watches, rad os and empty cheese cases were among the items sold to bidders.

OUTLINE SOLUTION OF EDITOR'S DEATH DURING LAST RITES

Mellett's Paper Will Carry
On Fight Against
Crooks

CANTON, O., July 17.—County, state and city officials were meeting here today to lay plans to solve the murder of Don R. Mellett, publisher of the Canton Daily News, without the aid of police.

While thousands were paying the tribute of an awakened citizenry at the bier of the slain editor, who conferees were outlining a course of action which they hoped would not only bring to justice the assassins, but would overthrow for all time the domination of the underworld over Canton politics.

What Mellett had failed to achieve in life, he is to accomplish in death.

"We carry on" is the militant battlecry sounded editorially in the newspaper of which Mellett was the publisher.

Whether the Canton police have had any direct agreements with the underworld or not is a question yet to be proved but officials whose lips are sealed publicly by fear of such bloody reprisals as that of Thursday night, in private express the opinion that confidence has been lost and the police have no place in the investigation.

The funeral of Mellett is scheduled for this afternoon. By a grim prank of fate the services will be conducted in a church which was the target several years ago for a bombing. The act was attributed to vice lords who later became the enemies of Mellett in his good government campaign. Dynamite was used and the church building was partly destroyed. The pastor had incurred the enmity of the underworld, by his pulpit utterances.

Hickman Mellett, a brother of the slain editor will return to Canton immediately after Mellett's funeral in Indiana, to take part in the investigation.

"We don't want any help from the Canton police, and don't expect any," he said. "In fact Lloyd (another brother and city editor of the Canton News) ran them out of the house yesterday when they came here after the murder."

"If the situation in Canton is to be cleared up—and it smells to the heavens—other agencies than the police are the ones to do it. The underworld was at the end of its rope. They couldn't stand the gaff that Don was giving them. They were desperate and they took the desperado's gamble. They would stop Don or be stopped."

"They even sent overtures to us that it would be worth $100,000 to us if we could quiet Don."

Roland Mellett declared the slaying of his brother was a challenge, not only to the good citizenship of Canton but to the state and nation.

FIVE ARRESTED FOR DEATH OF YOUNG GIRL

BOSTON, July 17.—With Dr. Thomas E. Walsh, his wife and three other persons already under arrest, detectives today sought two more suspects in connection with the death of Miss Edith Louise Greene, 19-year-old hospital attache.

The physician and his wife surrendered in the office of District Attorney Thomas C. O'Brien, after they had been hunted three days.

W. C. Walsh was held under $15,000 bond and early today his wife was released under $2,000 bail.

Dr. Walsh will be arraigned in superior court, Monday, charged with performing an illegal operation on Miss Greene, whose dismembered body was found Tuesday in two cardboard boxes and a burlap bag near Mattapan Cemetery.

TWELVE YEARS AGO AND NOW

Any man, and his wife, and their children, are a nation. A family is history; all there is of it. The story of the world is the story of a home, repeated to infinity with changing environments and unchanging principle. The reader, any reader, is a complete sum of life.

Twelve years ago (July 23) the former German kaiser was trout fishing near Balholm, in his yacht, the Hohenzollern. At trout dinner of 200 covers was laid for his Norwegian friends. Forty war vessels formed the accompanying squadron ready to escort the departure at Sunday daybreak. At midday of Saturday, July 24, William II got the warning tidings. On July 28 Austria declared war against Serbia. The war was on. Twelve years ago! Today the powers are trying to settle it.

The war was outwardly a thing of nations; a vast array of anonymous entities identified solely of flags. Inwardly it was a thing which reached into a certain home, scooped out therefrom its man-power, laid a cold hand of hunger and misery on the hearth and darkened the whole future for women and children by a process of annihilation. Civilization proves itself by the individual, and in no other way; war proves itself by the individual; and in no other way. Reduced to the lowest common denominator life is one man, one woman, one child; their fortunes are the fortunes of war. Not 10,000,000 casualties but 10,000,000 families was the price of war, each one of the 10,000,000 a living thing, with joy in the sunshine, curiosity for the streets and a realization of living.

What did the price purchase? What statesman was advanced to fortune? What new empire rose on the rubbish of desolation? Who has builded fame from the bones of these men and the broken hearts of these women? This dismal payment coined from wretchedness and sacrifice, what has it bought?

Progress, just progress. Nothing else. Perhaps in a wiser age the same thing could have been secured by deliberation in the closet of calm counsel. But such as we are, in a world still young, we learned the lesson by amazement, by confusion, by shock, by the ultimate of exhausting effort, by battle and agony and sudden death, and the loneliness of the bereaved.

Yet 1926 is not 1914; and that which was 1914, its characteristics and essentials, never can be again. Not only the calendar has moved, but human thought has advanced. The decade simply consummated a century. What began in France and the American states and took its first pause for breath with the down-fall of Napoleon came to strength and articulation in the years of the World War. Nothing is the same; not men and women nor their lives. Eras end and begin that way, and grave-stones and battlefields not infrequently are the dividing line.

There is one indestructible fact which history shouts down "the corridors of time," it is the inexorable release of the popular tendency. Men, individual giants, make great events, but the people make history. Statesmen may cling to this tradition and chancelleries may claim that or the other dispensation; but the simple fact is that democracy, not as a theory but as a state of living, made a gigantic stride forward and neither statesmen nor nations are what they were.

In short, the World War enthroned the ideal of popular government and the struggle now is to realize the ideal and make it effective. Progress is slow; civilization often blind. But slowly, surely, inexorably, resolute man advances his home and those who inhabit it nearer to the center of life; slowly, surely, inexorably, the world pivots on an axis of liberty; slowly, surely, inexorably, democracy takes into its own hands the destiny of this mystery we call the world.

That seized, the problem is no less, but it is a new one; it is the problem of 1926 and what is to come, and is related to 1914 and what is past only as two chapters of a story. And to the extent that the citizen of all the world holds this long-sought authority, on him rests the responsibility to fulfill his opportunity. Summed up, it is active citizenship; and he who denies that, whether in living or in voting or in serving, is denying himself and those for whom he lives the fruits of the civilization which, through such long, slow centuries, has accumulated on his hearth.

Today's Talk

No matter how well we may think we have discovered the secret of aspiration or its urge, there will always remain, locked tightly in the human heart—in the most secret chamber of that heart—that something which no word of poet or writer has ever been able to explain—that substance, if such it may be called, that explains the joy which keeps men and women striving.

Stevenson hints of this in his sketch, "The Lantern Bearer." He says: "And the true realism, always and everywhere, is that of the poets: to find out where they reside, and give it a voice far beyond singing. For to miss the joy is to miss all. In the joy of the actors lies the sense of any action."

We must be our own translators of life. No hired "pony" can do. An artist must lace his own shoes, arrange his own tie, and select his own headgear. You can't direct feeling nor can you breed personality. Like Hebe, this joy that lives so rare deep in a man's soul, must spring from a pearl shell. It's all mystery. But its rays may be seen from the sun streaming across a carpet. Strange that we search so far and long for this joy when so often it lies within us and we are carrying it far and near, not knowing!

Perhaps it comes from the touch of a hand, a favored and much-loved book, some exquisite etching from the hand of a master, or perhaps just the idle breath of a flower upon the desert—or the running song from the throat of a bird at sunrise outside one's window.

To pass a tree and just say—"A tree"—that is not enough. The joy is in every movement from the seed or root to the scampering sap and the fall colors at autumn time.

After you have done the deed, which was an impulse, then comes the joy. You know not why. You didn't study it out. You had no formula. Just something left loose, that nobody knew was hidden in that deep place under your heart, perhaps, but you know the joy even though you can't explain. You have to believe God to tell it.

THE FRIENDLY HOUSEKEEPER

Not long ago I was visiting a friend in a nearby town, and as we sat on her screened-in porch, sewing, a pleasant-faced young woman flew past the house in a car and waved gaily. "What a cheerful looking girl!" I exclaimed. "Yes—and she's always just the same," replied my hostess. "In all the seven years she has lived in our neighborhood, she has never had a chip on her shoulder." She has faith in people—believes in their good intentions, no matter how they act toward her. "For instance," she continued, "I ran into her in a crowd in the market district yesterday and, just as she started to say something to me, another friend touched me on the shoulder and I absently minded turned my back on Mrs. Z. I had an important matter to discuss with the woman who had touched my shoulder, and actually forgot that Mrs. Z. had started to speak to me! Yet she understood; from her friendly wave just now, you can see that she made allowances for my rudeness."

"There," I broke in, "that is just the phrase I have been searching for, to describe that type of woman: the woman 'who makes allowances.' So often we speak or act impulsively, or we fail to say or do the thing we should do because we are harassed by some secret reason—yet how few of our friends 'make allowances' for our frailties! How few of them will give us that gift which is more precious than gold—the gift of a 'Second Chance'!"

"It often seems as if people were just waiting for a chance to be harsh," sighed my friend, "I never make a social mistake, but I have to pay double or even treble! Why can't all women be like Mrs. Z. and try to see that everybody makes a mistake, now and then, a mistake based on carelessness or rooted in absent-mindedness, or perhaps a mistake caused by sheer fatigue or hidden worry?"

"Do you view the world with Mrs. Z's generosity of spirit?" I asked a little maliciously, and she laughed and turned the question back on me. "We can try, anyway," I suggested. "Charitable-mindedness may be a talent, and Mrs. Z. may be exceptionally endowed with it—but even if it doesn't come quite as naturally to the rest of us, we can acquire it."

THIS WOMAN'S BATTLE

Wins Against Ill Health

"At times I was hardly able to do my housework," writes Mrs. Margaret Wallace, of 1547 Safford Ave., Columbus, Ohio. "How many women have found themselves in this same condition! How many women have fought bravely on day after day, looking washing, ironing, doing the dishes, and keeping the house clean, when they were in a weakened condition and had not sufficient strength to perform these duties. A friend advised her to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and she gave it a fair trial. 'I just can't give enough thanks to it,' she writes. 'Now I can eat anything at all and I am feeling better than I have for years. I shall never be without your medicine again.'"

A woman who is fighting for her health and her family's happiness is a valiant soldier. She wages her battle in her own kitchen. She has no thrilling bugles to cheer her on, no waving banners. Many other women tell us, as Mrs. Wallace did that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has restored their health.

fair recognition that this year the event will surpass all previous efforts.

As a result of this decision, the 1926 fair will be the largest and best-balanced in the history of its eighty-seven years, it is believed.

Secretary Bryson says this year's premiums easily exceed any high marks of previous years. A considerable amount of this total has been assigned to the speed department for which $3,400 in purses is offered. Of the aggregate money assigned, much of this is in the live stock department as a result of new and different classifications this year.

MOUNT IDA

Cedarville Twp. had at least one interesting village of the "paper" variety, a village born of the brain of Robert Jackson.

This creature of his imagination responded to the classical name of Mount Ida.

It found a resting place in Military Survey, Nos. 605 and 616 in Cedarville Twp.

It was surveyed by J. Culbertson April 24, 1841, certified by a justice of the peace June 19, 1841 and filed for record June 23, 1841. That plat shows one street, with twelve lots on the west side and five lots on the east—a total of seventeen lots.

This village is another case of a man who had a vision which he attempted to materialize, only to find that it was a vision after all.

Today the place is not even a memory, and would be unknown if its plat were not recorded among the archives in the Court House.

THOMAS AGREES TO ACCOMPANY POLICE

Frank Thomas, 45, colored, former Xenian, wanted in Philadelphia, Pa., on a charge of murder, waived extradition following his arrest in Franklin Thursday night, and is being held pending the arrival of Philadelphia authorities. Thomas made his home at 1133 E. Third St., this city, from 1920 to 1923 or 1924.

Recognizing Thomas from police circulars, Marshal W. E. Graham made the arrest.

The negro is said to have admitted the slaying of William Latimore, colored, brother of his daughter-in-law in Philadelphia, last January, the outgrowth of a domestic quarrel. He declared he fired in self defense.

Modish Mitzi

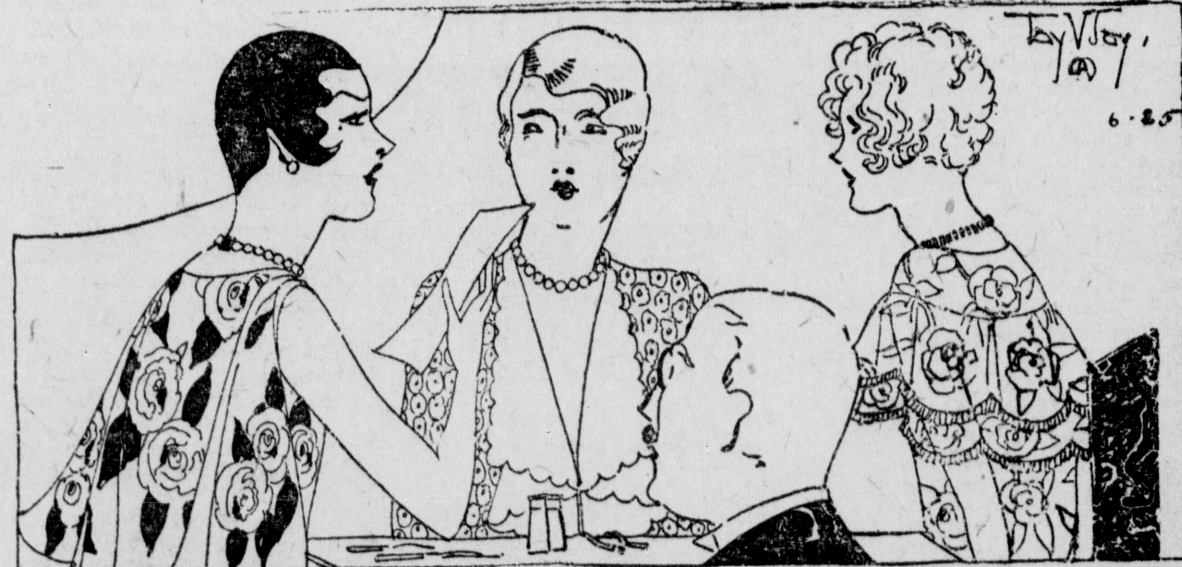

A FEW THINGS MITZI WANTS TO KNOW ABOUT

By Jay V. Jay

"There are just a few things, I simply must see, Polly," says Mitzi as they stroll under the shadow of the Capitol Dome. "I don't want to put them off another day, or they might be gone." It is evident that Mitzi is not talking about the scenery. Polly wears a transparent shade hat and Mitzi a silk turban.

When Mitzi speaks so definitely it is usually about fashions. So they go shopping. "I know that flowered chiffon would look adorable on you, Polly," encourages Mitzi. The skirt is very short and tiered with bands of the plain material edging the tiers. The neck has a rounded collar.

"Well, girls," says Dad, including Aunt Sophia who sits opposite him in this chummy fashion. "I think Mitzi's idea to tour the country and learn something about it is good. I saw this House of Peaches yesterday. Interesting—you know, very!" "Yes," absent minded joins in Mitzi, while she consults the menu, "so were the printed chiffons with capes to them." Dad ignores the remark and rehearses the history of Bills that have been presented before the House which makes Mitzi slightly uncomfortable, reminding her of two of another kind that Dad is soon to know about in detail.

The Theatre

"Mannequin" the movie presented here recently and the novel by the same name, which together constitute the $50,000 prize story and movie of Liberty Magazine are brain children of the popular Fannie Hurst although it is rumored that this versatile writer would like to disinherit both.

It all came about through a conversation with her husband and her mother in which the comparative earning power of Miss Hurst or rather, Mrs. Davidson, with the earning power of Kathleen Norris, the wife of Charles G. Norris, was discussed. All agreed that since Mrs. Norris is the more prolific, her earning power is probably proportionately greater.

Then Fannie's husband suggested that she might increase her income with little effort by writing a synopsis to be entered in the Liberty contest. Under the terms of the contest, the magazine was to award $25,000 for the winning synopsis and then either commission the author or another writer to prepare the novel for an additional $25,000.

Miss Hurst dashed off her synopsis hurriedly and was surprised to learn she had won the synopsis prize and been commissioned to do the novel. This she also produced hurriedly with the result that when it appeared in print, she felt that it was not up to her standard.

She was much chagrined then to find that in accepting the prize money she was required to assist direction of the movie. She rebelled but finally consented when offered a bungalow in Hollywood and an auto during her stay there. She was chagrined again when she learned that she had no voice in the publication rights and that distribution of the novel in book form would not only put a story in circulation of which she was not very proud but would also bring her no financial advantage. She stood to be paid less than if she had written a novel and had it published herself.

To cap it all Miss Hurst next learned that the British rights on the novel were for sale and was reminded by Liberty that they had authority to distribute the book as they saw fit. Believing the novel, not being up to her standard, would hurt her with her British public, she bought the British rights herself. She is now wondering if she will have to buy the rights for other countries to suppress the novel and if so, how much of the $50,000 prize she will have left.

GREENE COUNTY STORES SANITARY SAYS INSPECTOR-GROCERY CUSPIDOR PASSE

People who deal in food commodities are usually anxious to obey the laws regulating their business, and respond readily to recommendations made to them, according to James I. Martin, an inspector attached to the dairy and food division of the State Department of Agriculture, who spent the last several days investigating dairies, groceries and other places handling food products for sale, in Xenia and vicinity.

"I found things in good shape," said Mr. Martin. "Sanitation regulations are being observed, and this is not only true in stores in the city, but pretty generally in small outlying groceries and rural stores."

"I was pleased to observe that a number of recommendations I had made during my last visit of inspection had been carried out. The policy of our department is to prosecute only as a last resort when proprietors neglect or refuse to follow the law by obeying our suggestions and recommendations, given in a friendly way," said Inspector Martin.

Mr. Martin visited the O. S. and S. O. Home, and praised highly the dairy barn at the institution, where he said the cleanliness and sanitation is of the highest order.

The passing of the time honored cuspidor in the country grocery is a result of the constant urging of his department Inspector Martin said. As a rule grocers are only too glad to have the cuspidor at the back of the stove placed in the discard, but until the receive the encouragement given by the inspectors they fear to offend patrons who like to sit around the stove on winter evenings and "smoke, chew and spit."

Mr. Martin is department inspector for the United Spanish American War Veterans. During part of his time in Greene County he was accompanied by another inspector, Frank Walker. W. H. Leech is chief of the division of dairy and food inspection.

SOCIETY HOLDS MEMORIAL MEETING

A memorial service commemorating Mrs. S. B. Yockey, founder of the Women's Missionary Society of the Reformed Church, featured a meeting of the missionary society of the First Reformed Church Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. L. Miller, N. Detroit St.

Mrs. Yockey, whose death occurred recently at her home in Springfield, founded the Women's Missionary Society in 1869, when the Ohio Synod of the Reformed Church was in session in Delaware. She worked hard in promoting the new organization and before many years was rewarded by seeing it grow into a strong society.

Mrs. C. L. Jobe read a sketch of her life as connected with the missionary movement and Mrs. Almida Gowdy told of the Almira Yockey scholarship for girls. A solo number was sung by Mrs. Edwin Buck, and the program closed with prayer by Mrs. J. W. Peterson. A social hour and supper on the lawn of the Miller home, followed.

BIRTHDAY SURPRISE ENJOYED BY COMPANY

Complimenting their son, Edwin Scamman, on the twenty second anniversary of his birth, Mrs. and Mrs. John Scamman, entertained a company of friends at supper and a dancing party last Friday evening. The affair was a surprise to the honor guest. It was enjoyed by Mrs. Clara Hiles of Toledo, whose birth anniversary fell on the same date; Mr. and Mrs. William Engle of Dayton; Miss Polly Davis of Lima; Miss Madge Davis, Miss Esther Ford, Miss Donna Free.

Mrs. Frank Edwards has been suffering from tonsillitis for the last two weeks, is able to be up and around again.

MORGAN BACK AFTER WESTERN JOURNEY

President Arthur E. Morgan of Antioch College, returned to his home in Yellow Springs this week after spending a month in the west in connection with college affairs and civil engineering interests of his own.

Mr. Morgan spent some time in New Mexico in his capacity as consulting engineer for reclamation work that is taking place along the Rio Grande River, for 100 miles, with headquarters in Albuquerque.

He delivered the commencement address at Denver University in June, and spent some time in San Francisco and Los Angeles. He said that he was there in the interest of college finances.

Mrs. Morgan and her daughter Frances, who went to Europe in the spring, are expected to return next month accompanied by Griscom Morgan who has been in school in Switzerland.

ZIMMERMAN

Miss Louise Trehanne and brother, Horace enjoyed a delightful week's cruise on a steamer from Detroit to Duluth and return. Following which they will visit with relatives in Detroit and in Canada.

The Annual 4th of July S. S. picnic was held at I. M. Coy's barn and A. D. Hendricks woods Monday July 5. In spite of the inclement weather in the morning there was a good attendance. Croquet and baseball were enjoyed. Also the bountiful dinner and ice cream.

Fred Smart, wife and children have returned from Chicago where they visited the former's sister, Mrs. William Zellars and family.

Mrs. T. W. Trehanne graciously entertained twenty-one members of the Community Club Wednesday afternoon, July 7. After the business session Miss Ruth Criger of the O'Brien School of Dayton, whose charming personality and clever impersonations gave her an enviable popularity with her audience, gave several delightful readings and impersonations which were enthusiastically received.

Mrs. T. W. Trehanne, Mrs. R. E. Ferguson and Miss Lida Ferguson Mr. Ed Shoup and committee from were appointed to co-operate with the Alpha and Benham Schools in promoting the Religious Education at Work in the three schools for the 1926-27 term.

Two piano solos were played by Miss Kable.

A shrubbery and tree leaves guessing contest was a pleasant feature of the afternoon. Mrs. H. M. Stewart won first prize and Thelma Stewart and Miss Lida Ferguson tied on second prize.

A dainty salad course was served by the hostess.

Present were Mrs. H. C. Haverstick, Miss Ruth Criger, Mrs. Kable, Miss Etta Marie Kable, Mrs. Clift Sipe, Mrs. Dan Dice, Mrs. George Ferguson, Miss Lida Ferguson, Miss Lizzie Haverstick, Mary Haverstick, Mrs. Kate Haverstick, Mrs. R. E. Ferguson, Mrs. Frank Barron, Miss Mary Barron, Mrs. H. M. Stewart, Thelma and Nadine Stewart, Miss Julia Lantz, Miss Julia Fleming and Mrs. Trehanne.

Beautiful patriotic solos were sung, July fourth by Misses Grace Miller and Vesper Rosell. The latter also gave a reading of the "Star-Spangled Banner" was sung and followed by the Pledge of Allegiance by the children and young people of the S. S. followed by an appropriate and patriotic Address by, Rev. Eldemiller.

Thomas Trehanne is spending his vacation with home folks. Committee from the Benham and Zimmerman Community Clubs met at the home of Mr. Edwin Shoup director of the Religious Education for the schools of Beaver Creek Twp. Saturday evening to discuss plans for continuing the work during the 1926-27 term of school. The consensus of opinion expressed was that it was a splendid thing for the children and should be heartily supported and if possible, extended to include other grade schools and the high schools. The enthusiastic commendations of the work done by Miss Lena Behrend as teacher, by parents and public school teachers present made one realize more vividly the wonderful possibilities for good for the moral and spiritual training of the boys and girls with special religious education teacher, school teacher and parents, heartily co-operated in making the course effective. Mr. Shoup read the financial report for the past year which was as follows:

Overhead, $35.00.
Busfare, $19.80.
Teaching, $288.00.
Equipment $12.89.
Supplies $5.79.
Total $361.48, which sum was paid to Miss Blanche Carrier as director of religious education at Dayton and who also directs the work here.

The contract for the term 1926-27 for the Alpha, Zimmerman and Benham schools for one hour instruction for each school room calls for an expenditure of $351.96 and was signed by Mr. Shoup and the officers of the Community Clubs. Present were Mrs. Barnes, Mrs. George Tombs, Misses Carrie and Charlotte Lewis of Benham district, Mrs. Trehanne, Mrs. R. E. Ferguson and Mrs. H. M. Stewart of Zimmerman Club. Alpha Community Club was not represented but had previously expressed the intention to continue work.

TITLE QUIETED

Plaintiff's title to certain property has been ordered quieted by Judge R. L. Gowdy in the case of Oscar Goings against Tecumseh Goings and others in Common Pleas Court.

Because a negro named McBee took a "dare" during what police termed a drunken argument in the "Three Bees" district, E. Church St., late Friday afternoon, George Spencer, Jr., 27, was nursing a bullet wound in his left wrist Saturday.

Spencer reported to police Friday night that McBee shot at him with a revolver, the bullet striking his wrist, when he dared him to assault him. The wound was dressed by a physician.

Police investigated the report but a search for the negro has failed.

THOUSANDS VISIT SHOWROOMS TO SEE THE NEW WHIPPET

TOLEDO, O., July 17.—Overwhelming interest was shown by the American public in the introduction by Willys-Overland of the new Whippet light weight car with four wheel brakes and thirty miles to the gallon of gasoline.

Approximately two million people viewed the cars in dealer's showrooms the first week.

Sixty-two thousand visitors came into the New York sales room at 50th St. the first three days.

Thirty-five thousand visitors the first two days in Chicago.

Twenty-seven thousand one hundred and twenty-two the first two days in Milwaukee.

Fourteen thousand at the opening in Elmhurst.

Six thousand at Grand Rapids.

Two hundred and thirteen thousand in the combined dealer establishments in the Detroit territory.

Orders with deposits were booked plans to increase production as rapidly as in advance of production. Willys-Overland has already made it as possible.

In the entire history of the automobile industry, no new car has registered the same tremendous enthusiasm of dealers, competitors and public. General comment is that this is the best light car ever produced in America, and that the price of seven hundred and thirty-five dollars is extremely low.

President John N. Willys states that the evidence shows clearly that this is unquestionably the beginning of an overwhelming trend which has set in in America toward greater efficiency in personal transportation.

STAR WINS ECONOMY RUN IN CALIFORNIA IN BOTH DIVISIONS

The Tenth Annual Los Angeles-Yosemite Economy Run recently staged under the auspices of the American Automobile Association, witnessed the triumph of both the Star Four and Star Six entries in this celebrated classic.

The route covers 360 miles over California's wonderful paved roads up the San Joaquin Valley with its steady grade and the tortuous, nerve-trying curves of the famous Wawona Road.

A Star Four Touring Car, driven by "Red" Hodnett, which averaged 29.09 miles per gallon of gas, with no perceptible oil consumption, carried off first honors in the Four Cylinder Class A-1 Event.

A Star Six Touring Car driven by "Ray" Rogers, averaged 23.6 miles per gallon of gas, and consuming one quart of oil on the 360 mile drive, won first prize in Class A-2 for Six-Cylinder Cars selling under $1,000.

The Los Angeles-Yosemite Economy or "Stingy" Run is an annual affair conducted under the official observation of the Contest Board of the American Automobile Association under rules that tend to develop the real economy of the entrants under actual driving conditions.

No coasting or throwing the clutch out is allowed, so that the records are a dependable criterion of automobile performance under normal driving conditions.

The Los Angeles-Yosemite Economy Run is regarded by the automobile industry as an outstanding event, the results of which are eagerly watched. A victory gives the winner both glory and prestige.

BOTH STRENGTH AND BEAUTY BUILT INTO FORD STEEL BODIES

Two outstanding factors in the building of the all-steel bodies for Ford cars account, in a large measure, for the instant popularity which greeted their introduction. In the first place, these bodies are made from steel, thereby insuring maximum strength of construction and more graceful lines. Secondly, the bodies are built to Ford specifications consistent with the Ford standards of quality. In addition, these sturdy bodies afford a high factor of safety.

The Tudor, one of the most popular cars of the Ford line, offers an interesting study of the new order of coach construction. Parts, cut exactly the right size to form the body, are produced at the Ford plant of the Ford Motor Company and sent to the body plant for assembly. Here the staccato clatter of riveting guns suggests the fabrication of some skyscraper or steel ocean greyhound, more than the building of an automobile body.

Jigs and fixtures play a prominent part in maintaining the standards of hairline accuracy in Ford body building. Through their use, every body part must fit exactly and any imperfection is made instantly apparent. By preserving this accuracy throughout construction and building in steel, a body is produced which is as nearly perfect as human ingenuity and mechanical science are able to make it, and as long lived as the Ford chassis itself.

WAR DEPARTMENT PURCHASES DODGE BROTHERS AUTOS

The Quartermaster General has awarded Dodge Brothers, Inc., a contract for ten sedans and seventy six touring cars for army use in different parts of the United States. The cars are in every respect Dodge Brothers standard product.

"The Dodge Brothers Sedan and Touring Car have been approved as suitable for Military Service after severe practical tests and are the present standard five passenger cars for army purposes," said Maj. General C. F. Cheatham, in announcing the purchase.

"The Dodge Brothers car have for a number of years been actually used in the United States Army, in Mexico, Europe, the Island Possessions and withing the Continental limits of the United States, and found satisfactory for Military use."

This Quartermaster purchase follows an order from the Panama Canal Commission for twenty-one Dodge Brothers Motor Cars and Graham Brothers Trucks (both of which use the same engine) and more recently by an order from the U. S. Marines for twenty Graham Brothers Trucks. Last year the War Department purchased over fifty Dodge Brothers Motor Cars to replace as many which had been in service ever since the World War during which fully 20,000 of these cars were used. The additional orders are considered a significant tribute to the sturdiness and dependability of Dodge Brothers product.

RADIO LANGUAGE LESSONS FEATURE GERMAN PROGRAMS

BERLIN, July 17.—One of the minor booms which the Dawes plan brought to Germany was the radio. During the inflation period, no broadcasting stations existed, because economic and political anarchy would have turned the radio to their own uses. Any one who then built himself a set to listen in on French or English stations was subject to a harsh penalty.

With the stabilization of currency and the subsequent political consolidation all this changed rapidly. Almost over night, Berlin and a few other large cities erected broadcasting stations which soon won enthusiastic clientele. Other, smaller cities built relay stations most of which transmit the Berlin program.

Today there are close to 1,500,000 licensed radio sets in Germany their number growing at the rate of several thousand a day. Of these approximately 70 per cent are crystal sets, the rest valve sets of varying capacity. There are also a number of freebooters of the air, who evade the monthly license fee of half a dollar. Confiscation of their sets and heavy fines are the punishment meted out to these pirates, when they are found out by the special detectives of the postal authorities.

Corresponding to the rapid growth of broadcasting, the programs evolved from crude to nicely balanced selections. From the accompaniments to the daily dozen in the early morning hours to the final "Deutschland ueber Alles" at midnight, there is almost continuous transmission.

Naturally music plays a large part. Most of it is classical, but sometimes also the strains of a jazz band are wafted through the ether. All classical music is usually preceded by an introduction, telling the audience how to appreciate the mysteries of Beethoven, Hadyn or Gluck. During certain nights the productions of the State Opera House are broadcast.

Sandwiched in between Kultur numbers are topical talks on many subjects ranging from the course of the planets to the soul-problems of Ibsen's characters and How to Exterminate Cockroaches. Although the authorities bar all not strictly non-controversial topics occasionally politics creep in, nevertheless. Thus a recent discourse on "Germany's Lost Colonies" reflected the growing sentiment in favor of a return of at least part of the colonies and was presumably endorsed by the radio censor.

The most outstanding feature, however, is the aerial language. The subjects taught are Esperanto, French and English, the latter preponderating. These lessons are broadcast from the Berlin station and its relays. It is estimated that there are at least a million sets within range of these stations and thus three times a week, men, women and children clap receivers on their heads and imbibe English sounds, English grammar, and incidentally, English ideals—all dispensed by an English university professor.

ESTABLISH NASH CO. STOCK ON DIVIDEND BASIS ANNOUNCED

At a meeting of the directors of The Nash Motors Company, Friday, July 9, action was taken in the form of establishing the stock on a regular dividend basis of 50c quarterly per share, and declaring $1 per share covering the first two quarters of this fiscal year which began December 1st, 1925, and, also, declaring an additional dividend of $1 representing an extra dividend of 50c per share for the past two quarters, both dividends payable August 2, 1926, to holders of stock at the close of business, July 20, 1926.

The company reported that for the second quarter of its 1926 fiscal year, covering the three months ending May 31, 1926, after deduction of all manufacturing expenses, including depreciation, selling, and administration, and provision for all taxes, including federal income tax, the net consolidated income for The Nash Motors Company and its subsidiary, the Ajax Motors Company, amounted to $6,010,824.45. Adding to this the income for the first quarter, amounting to $4,137,508.16, gives the company total earnings for the first six months of $10,148,332.61.

With reference to the condition of the Company and the outlook for the future, President C. W. Nash expressed himself as being well satisfied with the soundness of general business and the prospect for continued excellent Nash sales.

"Our sales in number of units for the second quarter of the 1926 fiscal year were the largest in our history for a three-month period," stated Mr. Nash, "and our net income was also the largest for a like period in our history. The increase in cars sold for the second quarter over and above the same period of 1925 was seventy-three per cent, representing a total volume of business in excess of $72,000,000 for the six months period of this fiscal year."

"That the popularity of the Nash product with the public is growing rapidly, is evidenced by the fact that the month of May was the twenty-first consecutive month, with one exception, that sales exceeded the mark set by the corresponding month of the previous year; and since January 1, 1926, nearly six hundred new dealers have taken on the Nash line."

"Reports from our organization indicate that actual retail deliveries throughout the country are proceeding at the highest rate for this season of the year that the country has ever known."

"And with fundamental factors relative to crops and industrial employment in a healthy state, I am of the opinion that the commerce of the country can justifiably anticipate prosperity in practically all lines during the coming months."

"As far as the Nash product in particular is concerned, we look for our progress to continue on a more favorable basis than in the past. I believe it is a fact that the Nash product today is accepted by the public in general as being a product that they feel well justified in purchasing."

Nash is sold here by Xenia Motor Sales, S. Detroit St.

TRANSFER LICENSE PLATES FROM AUTOS CLUB HERE ADVISES

It has been necessary for the Deputy Commissioner in the license department of the Greene County Automobile Club to make several calls on motorists who have failed to transfer their license plates when changing from one car to the other. If you purchase a new or used car it is absolutely necessary that this license be transferred at the Deputy Commissioner's office within three days after the change of these plates.

It is also necessary to bring in to the office to make this transfer your Registration Certificate which you receive when you purchase your taks and also a bill of sale for the car which you have just purchased. Furthermore you must have your old car disposed of before you can transfer your tags.

It has been necessary for different motorists to buy new tags for the simple reason that when they purchase a new car they did not have the bill of sale made out in the same name as what the license tags were purchased on. It has also been necessary for the Deputy Commissioner to call motorists who are operating passenger cars on P. C. tags and truck tags and visa versa.

For failure to comply with the transfer laws the motorists can be fined not more than ($25.00). Also your insurance can be made void for this failure.

POWERFUL MOTOR IS TALKING POINT FOR FEDERAL TRUCKS

The world-famous Federal-Knight sleeve valve truck motor powers the famous Federal-Knight truck, sold in Greene County exclusively by The Xenia Paige-Jewett Co., W. Main St.

No valves to grind, no carbon to clean, greater gasoline mileage, more power, fewer parts and less wear are a few of the talking points for this powerful truck unit. The manufacturers claim it is an engine that improves with use.

A sturdy, low swing frame assures quick handling and safe transportation of merchandise. The bevel-gear rear axle is of generous truck proportions, with large tapered roller bearings. The drive is through radius rods, leaving the springs free to cushion chassis and load. Special steering gear ratio gives prompt and easy response.

Other features include big pneu-

matic tires, strong, steel-spoke wheels, baked enamel hood and fenders, an efficient lubrication system, starter, generator and electric lights.

Thousands of miles of service are promised Federal-Knight buyers by the makers of this popular truck.

COUNTY WILL GET $10,000 GAS TAX

County Auditor R. O. Wead expects to receive a state draft for $10,000 soon, as Greene County's share of the latest gasoline tax fund distribution in the state.

Each of Ohio's eighty-eight counties is to receive a similar amount, it is announced.

Since the distribution was first begun last August, Greene County has received nearly $25,000. All gasoline tax money is placed in the county road fund to be used for maintenance and repair of county highways.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester R. Gibson and sons, George and Jerry, who spent the last week visiting Mrs. Gibson's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Henkle of E. Third St., returned to their home in Columbus, Friday.

FAIRFIELD OFFERS BUDGET FOR 1927

The 1927 budget of Fairfield village containing a list of the probable needs for current operating expenses next year, was submitted to County Auditor R. O. Wead, Saturday morning.

This, added to others previously received, brings the total budgets submitted by the various taxing units in the county to eight. Budgets of five villages, two townships and one school district are already on file.

They will be considered by the County Budget Commission when that body meets in August.

MINISTER FIRST TO CAST PRIMARY VOTE

One vote has already been cast for the August 10 primary although the election is still twenty-four days away. The Rev. David A. Sellers, pastor of the First Reformed Church, who intends taking a vacation and will be away from the city primary day, was the first to exercise his right to vote through the medium of the absent voters' ballots Saturday.

The ballots were available for the first time Saturday and may be had at the clerk of court's office in the Court House upon application to Earl Short, clerk of the board of elections.

These ballots will also be sent through the mail upon request and will be available until the Saturday night preceding the primary election, August 7.

Mr. Short estimates that absent ballot vote this time will total about 120, the average of other years.

Four applications for the ballots have been received through the mail.

RESERVES AND MERCHANTS TO BATTLE AT WASHINGTON PARK

With four consecutive victories under their belt, the Xenia Reserves will now turn their attention to much stiffer opposition in the form of the Xenia Merchants Sunday afternoon at Washington Park.

It will mark the first Reserve game since the managerial duties were shifted from G. H. Brockman to Chet Cyphers, the Reserve's stalwart moundsman, this week.

The Merchants hold a slight edge on paper due to a victory over the Springfield Millard Clothiers, while the Reserves have been turned back by the Reaper City crew on two occasions this summer.

However, the Reserve lineup of last Sunday will remain intact against the Merchants and a bitter finish fight is anticipated.

Cyphers will take care of the pitching end again and will be put to the test to battle such a bunch of hard sluggers as are represented on the colored nine this season.

"Mouse" Porter is particularly dangerous and will be watched carefully. In other words Cyphers intends to set a "trap" for the "Mouse."

The Sunday contest inaugurating the second leg of the season, will get under way at 2:30 o'clock.

DELANEY CAPTURES TITLE BY DECISION OVER BERLENBACH

By HENRY L. FARRELL
NEW YORK, July 17.—One tall, handsome French-Canadian, known to his parents as Orville Chapdelaine and registered in the fight records as Jack Delaney, checked out of his hotel in the "Roaring Forties" this morning and started back to Bridgeport, Conn., bearing the crown of the world's light-heavy-weight champion.

For one of the few times that a world's champion has changed hands on the decision of a referee and two judges in New York there were no experts or no losing betters at the trained to hurl razberries at the new champion.

Delaney so far outfought, out-boxed and out-smarted Paul Berlenbach in a fifteen round bout last night in the Brooklyn Ball Park that thousands of the 45,000 spectators who had paid a half million dollars to see the "battle of the ages" left their seats at the end of the tenth round to beat the rush for the limited transportation facilities resulting from the strike.

The score in baseball language was Delaney 10, Berlenbach 2 with three rounds even.

Delaney by the widest margins won the first, second, fourth, fifth, seventh, eleventh, twelfth, thirteenth, fourteenth and fifteenth rounds.

Berlenbach had a slight edge in the eighth and tenth round. The third, sixth and ninth rounds were called even simply because a champion—a falling champion—should be entitled to a little consideration.

The decision of the referee and the two judges that Delaney had won by a mile and was unanimous, there was no dispute.

Even Berlenbach, good sportsman that he always has been, gave his victorious rival a warm handshake and said:

"Jack, you took it good luck!"

Delaney, with the cheers of the multitude roaring in his ears smiled a real movie smile and replied:

"It's all in the game, Paul. This must have been my night."

From the tap of the first gong, that brought those thousands of spectators to the rim of their chairs until the final rap of the bell which sent two weary fighters to their corners there never was a doubt as to the outcome.

Delaney hit Berlenbach on the jaw with left hooks, right hooks and left and right uppercuts. In the fifth, a left hook dropped Berlenbach to his knees, but he was on his feet and tearing back in on the attack before the count was started.

Berlenbach's right eye was damaged and his chin slit and Delaney's lips were cut and bruised and his body was punched red from the hard short jabs that Berlenbach landed at close quarters, but they both kept their feet, and were fighting, rather weakly but desperately at the final bell.

With a weight advantage estimated from 10 to 12 pounds, Berlenbach was an even money choice when he entered the ring and the experts figured Delaney's jinx was still with him.

Delaney's brains overcame the weight advantage however.

Berlenbach kept watching and waiting for the right hand to the jaw that had knocked him out three years ago and Delaney crossed him, shooting to the body.

XENIA GOLFERS TO PLAY WASHINGTON

Xenia Country Club golfers will entertain members of the Washington C. H. Country Club in an inter-city match over the local course next Wednesday afternoon, according to a schedule arranged by Chalmers Murphy, chairman of the tournament committee.

Xenia has participated in but one match of the kind this season, with Middletown two weeks ago. The initial match resulted in defeat for the local team by a close count, but with the advantage of playing over a links of which they have a thorough knowledge, Xenia entertains hopes of winning.

The Wednesday match will be in charge of Don Currie, club professional.
